IBM Granted Authority for Help in Costs

The International Business Machine Corp., has been granted authority to write off part of the cost of its $6,000,000 military electronic equipment production plant planned for Kingston, in shorter time than usual, W. J. Mair, IBM vice-president, indicated today.

An Associated Press report from Washington said the Office of Defense Mobilization yesterday approved the federal tax assistance.

Similar tax benefits for 54 other defense projects were announced. The total estimated cost of all is $75,383,801.

Are Given Permission
It was indicated that companies, which are expanding their facilities for the defense program, or are building new facilities, are given permission to write off part or all of the cost against their federal tax liabilities in five years.

The AP said the corporation received a certificate of necessity entitling it to write off 60 percent of the outlay in five years in depreciation for federal tax purposes.

C of C Meet Tuesday

The Board of Directors of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce will meet at the Governor Clinton Hotel Tuesday at 7:30 p. m., for the purpose of electing officers for the year and transacting other business. A slate of officers will be presented by the nominating committee, of which Lawrence A. Quilly is chairman.

Youth Improves

The condition of Paul Tirc, Jr., 8, of Ulster Park, was reported as slightly improved at Benedictine Hospital this morning. He had been listed as critical. Young Tirc was injured last Wednesday, state police said, when he was struck by a car which skidded on the icy pavement while he and a group of playmates were returning from sleigh-riding.

Improves Slightly

A slight improvement was indicated today in the condition of Mrs. Louise Jordan, who was reported injured Friday morning in an explosion at Hercules Powder Company, whom Kingston Hospital authorities listed as serious. The report also said the woman had spent a fairly good night. Her condition was listed previously as critical.

Evening School Is Canceled Tonight

Due to the heavy snowstorm hitting Kingston and the area today, the evening classes in the adult educational program scheduled for tonight at the Vocational School have been canceled, it was announced by Hubert Hodarath, director.

Hodarath pointed out this morning that the evening classes were called off when regular sessions at Kingston High School were canceled due to the storm.

The adult education class opened its new semester last Monday night.

Branniff Airways Head Is One of Victims in South

Shreveport, La., Jan. 11 (AP)—A blazing plane crash killed the president of Branniff International Airways and Texas Eastern Gas Transmission Co. and 10 companions last night.

The plane smashed into an unoccupied house and burned for more than two hours, killing 10 wealthy passengers and two pilots returning from a weekend duck hunt in the Louisiana marshlands near the Gulf coast. There were no survivors.

The plane tore into the house after ice formed on its wings. The dead included Thomas Branniff of Dallas, Tex., president of Branniff, and R. H. Hargrove of Shreveport, president of Texas Eastern, which operates the famed "Big Inch" and "Little Inch" gas pipeline to the East.

The bodies remained unidentified early today because they were badly mangled and charred.

Dental Chunks Asked
Rose-Neath Funeral Home said dentists who have treated the victims are asked to send dental charts to aid identification.

The big seaplane, owned by United Gas Co., went down at Wallace Lake, 10 miles south of here.

T. J. Rucker or Shreveport, first on the scene, said, "I was driving to the lake when I heard the crash. I got there and saw assistance was impossible. I drove to the Forbush community and called the CAA office at the Shreveport Municipal Airport."

Harold and Julian Martinez and E. C. Crain, all of the Shreveport area, said they saw the plane flying low. They said it wavered, hit trees and then crashed and burned.

The plane tore a 100-yard swath through the trees and undergrowth before it hit the house.

On Passenger List

United Gas said the passenger list included:

Branniff, 70-year-old aviation pioneer who began a commercial flying company in 1928 and saw it grow into a major airline.

Hargrove, 57-year-old president of Texas Eastern and former president of the American Gas Association who was a former advisor for the Petroleum Administration for defense.

Chris Abbott, 65, Hyannis, Neb., one of Nebraska's leading bankers and a director of the Mutual Benefit Health and Accident Association, the Northwestern Bell Telephone Co., and the Union Stockyards of Omaha.

Edgar Tobin, 58, San Antonio, Tex., head of a large aerial mapping firm and a World War I flying ace with Eddie Rickenbacker's famed Hat-in-the-Ring Squadron.

Justin R. Querbes Sr., 61, director of Shreveport's First National Bank, president of an insurance company and the leader of the city's Community Chest drives.

Randolph Querbes Sr., 59, his brother and a wholesale electrical company head.

Has 50 Stores

E. Bernard Weiss, Shreveport, vice president of Goldring's Inc., a clothing chain with 50 stores.

Milton Weiss, Dallas, Tex., his brother and manager of Volk's, a large Dallas clothing store.

J. P. Evans, 69, a Shreveport independent oil producer.

John B. Atkins Sr., 56, a Shreveport oilman and chairman of the board of two Shreveport oil firms.

Buddy Huddleston, 30, a pilot, Houma, La.

Louis Schexnaydre, age unavailable, a pilot, Houma, La.

Six other members of the hunting party arrived safely at Shreveport almost 300 miles north of the hunting site, in another plane.

They included United Gas President C. McGowan, Shreveport banker Walter Jacobs, Shreveport oilman W. C. Woolf, P. H. Hamrick

Democrats To Demand Race Probe

Dewey's Program Comes Under Fire Tonight; GOP Backs Governor on Wagner

Albany, Jan. 11 (AP)—Democrats in the Legislature tonight will try to slap a "whitewash" label on the Dewey administration's harness-racing probe and demand an "unbiased" inquiry into sulky-track scandals.

Contending that members of the Moreland Act commission investigating the sport are tied closely to Gov. Dewey, a Manhattan Democrat said yesterday he would call for an inquiry by a bipartisan legislature committee.

As the lawmakers headed back to the capitol for their first night session of 1954, Dewey's crack-down on harness racing came under fire from another angle.

A spokesman for an upstate trotting association declared the governor's plans to increase the state's "bite" on parimutuel betting at all sulky tracks would make western New York a "minor league" territory in the racing world.

Other Developments

In other developments over the weekend:

1. Republican legislative leaders backed up the governor in rejecting the bulk of Mayor Robert F. Wagner's program for state financial aid to New York city, while Metropolitan Democrats planned to introduce measures to carry it out.

2. A Democratic assemblyman called for replacing the new state commissioner of investigation with a permanent three-member crime commission.

3. The Democratic state chairman urged Dewey to take immediate steps to meet what he termed "the problem of widespread unemployment which now threatens the economy of our state."

The resolution to set up a legislative committee for a harness-racing probe will be introduced by Sen. Joseph Zaretzki, who tried unsuccessfully to push a similar measure through a special session of the Legislature last November.

Zaretzki Statement

Zaretzki said the Moreland Act Commission was made up of "liars who are indebted to the governor for political or other favors or who, at least, owe him a special and personal allegiance."

Members of the commission are Chairman Bruce Bromley, a Republican and a former associate justice of the State Court of Appeals; John F. Brosnan, a Democrat and a member of the Board of Regents; George Trosk, a political independent who is counsel to the agency; and George Monaghan, former New York city police commissioner and the governor's choice for "czar" of harness racing.

Zaretzki declared he would ask for an "impartial, unbiased and unprejudiced" inquiry by a group of two Democrats and two Republicans from the Senate and two each from the Assembly, armed with power to look into all phases of harness racing.

The committee would be authorized to spend up to $25,000 and would be ordered to report by March 1 with proposals for legislation to regulate the sport.

Commission To Report

The Moreland Act Commission is to report during the current session with recommendations for a sweeping expansion of state controls over harness tracks. It also is working out details of a plan to increase the state's share of the 15-per-cent "bite" on parimutuel wagering.

That idea yesterday prompted spokesmen for two tracks to declare that the position of smaller racetracks would be "seriously jeopardized" if the state took a larger share of the first $200,000 wagered each night.

Under present law, 15 per cent of all bets goes into a pool. The

Strike Vote Approval Is One Change

Proposals Would Grant States More Power in Labor Disputes, Cut Some Restrictions

Washington, Jan. 11 (AP)—President Eisenhower today asked Congress to adopt 14 amendments to the Taft-Hartley labor law, including a provision that workers must vote approval of any strike before it can go into effect.

On the strike proposal the President recommended that before a union could order workers off their jobs the workers be required to approve the action in a secret, government-held election.

Eisenhower's proposals contained some changes suggested by management and some asked by labor.

Among the presidential proposals was one that would give states more jurisdiction in labor disputes. Others would require employers to submit non-Communist affidavits as well as union leaders, and would remove some of the present restrictions against union boycotts and strikers.

Asks 'Thorough Study'

Eisenhower called on Congress to make a "thorough study" of union welfare pension funds "with a view of enacting such legislation as will protect and conserve these funds for the millions of working men and women who are the beneficiaries."

There have been numerous suggestions from management and Congress members that such funds should have public supervision, similar to insurance regulations now in effect.

The President reiterated his conviction that the Taft-Hartley Act is "sound legislation." But he said experience gained during the seven years the law has been in effect, indicates that changes are needed "to reinforce its basic objectives."

Take Middle Course

The President's recommendations appear to steer a middle course between the expressed desires of labor and management.

The proposal for a pre-strike poll of workers is not without precedent in American labor law. The Smith-Connally Act of World War 2 required assent from workers before they could legally go on strike.

In suggestion the adoption of this provision as part of the Taft-Hartley Act, Eisenhower said: "There is nothing which so vitally affects the individual employee as the settlement of the Korean

State Survey Considers Kingston Traffic Growth Up Until 1970

Plan in Prospect From State Expected to Ask Spur Connection With New Thruway

A state arterial route survey for Kingston, scheduled to be presented here formally Jan. 15, considers the growth of the city and internal traffic flow up to 1970, the state public works department revealed today.

The plan to be presented in the Common Council Chamber Friday, it is expected, will recommend a spur to connect with the thruway "somewhere north of Broadway," and possibly near the intersection of Albany avenue.

Area Highways Are Passable; Snow Is Of Varied Depth

Road Crews Are Kept Busy But School Children Get Day Off, and There's Skiing

Snow began falling early this morning and by mid-day blanketed Ulster county with an average of three inches and was still dropping.

The snow had various effects: —To county highway department men, it meant being called out at 5 a. m. to plow the highways.

—To school children and teachers in Kingston public schools and a number of county schools, it offered an unscheduled holiday. Some of the pupils used the time to earn extra money by shoveling sidewalks.

—To ski resort operators, the snow gave promise of continued activity matching that of the weekend, when Belleayre, for instance, was reported "jammed full" of skiers' automobiles.

—To the average motorist, it meant slow going on slippery roads.

—To Kingston Department of Public Works employees, who had already worked all night loading snow in the business section, it indicated continued work in plowing all during the day.

Today's snow added to that already on the ground from Saturday's fall of about two and a half inches, and a snowfall last Tuesday and Wednesday of another two and a half inches.

Six Inches in City
The city engineering department reported a total of six inches of snow fell on the city since the first of the year, exclusive of today's storm. Total for the winter, also exclusive of the amount that fell today, is about 8 1/2 inches.

State police this morning reported all roads and highways impassable. Traffic was moving slowly and no serious accidents or tie-ups were reported.

Ernest Gardner, 49, of Mt. Tremper, town of Shandaken highway superintendent, was "shaken up" but otherwise apparently uninjured in a three-car collision which occurred as he was supervising snow removal operations in his section, Cpl. Ray Dunn of the state police Phoenixia station reported.

Car Skids, Hits Another

Dunn said Gardner had stopped his automobile on Route 28 one mile west of Phoenixia about 4:45 p. m. Saturday, waiting for the town plow to come out a side road, when an eastbound automobile driven by Arvid Mevik, 27, of Westbury, skidded, its right side striking the rear of the highway superintendent's car. A following car was involved.

Snow Causes Mishap

John Henzi, of Ulster Park escaped unhurt, but his car was badly damaged when it struck a pole of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp., on Abeel street near the sand bank at about 9:25 a. m. Sunday. The police report said the car was crowded to one side onto "loose snow" and swerved into the pole. The car was towed from the scene. (James Anner photo)

India Requests UN Reconvene Early For Korean Debate

Officials Insist Action Not Intended to Delay Freeing of POWs on Jan. 22

New Delhi, India, Jan. 11 (AP)—India formally called today for the UN General Assembly to reconvene "at an early date" to consider the Korean question.

Indian officials refused to say what date they had recommended for the assembly to be recalled but they insisted the action was not intended to delay the freeing of war prisoners who have been refused to be repatriated.

"That is a matter for the two commands to settle, and as far as India is concerned, Jan. 22 is the deadline for their release under the agreement of those commands," a government spokesman said.

India addressed her request for the recalling of the assembly to Mrs. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit, the assembly president who is also Prime Minister Nehru's sister.

Mrs. Pandit, who returned here after the assembly recessed Dec. 9, said through a spokesman she had forwarded the Indian request immediately to UN headquarters in New York for its distribution to the 60 member states of the international organization. Thirty-one of these must agree before she can summon the assembly.

No Comment Made
(Early today there was no information available at UN headquarters in New York that the Indian request had been received there and UN sources were not immediately available for comment.)

An official statement said the Indian government had requested the reconvening "in reasonable time prior to the dissolution of the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission," of which India is chairman.

It was generally believed here that India asked that the Assembly meet the first week in February.

Last night an official said India had asked that the Assembly be called back on Feb. 9. A government spokesman said today India considers Feb. 22 the date on which the Repatriation Commission is to be dissolved.

Says Settlement Urgent
The government statement went on:

"The communication (to Mrs. Pandit) expresses the view that the Korean problem must now be considered by the Assembly both in respect to the work of the NNRC and to issues which it has found itself incapacitated from resolving. The deadlock in negotiations in respect of the political conference and the consequent stoppage of steps towards the settlement of the Korean

Says Action Is Needed to Stop Threat

Recommend Surpluses Be 'Frozen'; Calls Plan Back Bone of New Programs

Washington, Jan. 11 (AP)—President Eisenhower recommended today that 2 1/2 billion dollars of present farm surpluses be "frozen" from regular markets and that the government move into a flexible farm price support program.

In a special message to Congress, the President said the agricultural problem is as "serious and complex" as any confronting the legislators.

"Immediate action is needed," he told them, "to arrest the growing threat to our present agricultural program and to prevent the subsequent economic distress that would follow in our farming areas."

Eisenhower also sent the lawmakers a separate message asking revision of the Taft-Hartley Labor Law. A major point of his request on this was for a provision requiring a vote of workers before a strike could be called. He also called for a "thorough study" of union welfare and pension funds "with a view of enacting such legislation as will protect and conserve these funds for the millions of working men and women who are the beneficiaries."

Affect Many Voters
These two programs—farm and labor—affect the two largest groups of voters in the nation.

As he did in his State of the Union message last week, the President said a flexible price support plan must be the backbone of new farm programs.

Eisenhower also said special emphasis in the future must be placed on efforts to develop foreign markets for agriculture's greatly expanded productive capacity.

Under his proposal to "freeze" certain surpluses, the excess supply of these commodities such as wheat and corn would be isolated from the market so as not to have a depressing effect on prices.

Such "frozen" stocks could not be sold to commercial users, farmers, exporters or to foreign buyers who ordinarily purchase in regular commercial channels. They could be used only for donation to the school lunch program, public institutions, relief, or earmarked for emergency stock piles.

State Survey Considers Kingston Traffic Growth Up Until 1970

Plan in Prospect From State Expected to Ask Spur Connection With New Thruway

A state arterial route survey for Kingston, scheduled to be presented here formally Jan. 15, considers the growth of the city and internal traffic flow up to 1970, the state public works department revealed today.

The plan to be presented in the Common Council Chamber Friday, it is expected, will recommend a spur to connect with the thruway "somewhere north of Broadway," and possibly near the intersection of Albany avenue.

Local Approval Essential

Local approval "of each construction project," says the state, "must be obtained before it can be advanced to construction stage," and in this sense, "The entire urban arterial route program is thus a cooperative effort between the state and the locality."

All construction costs are met by equal shares of federal aid and state funds. The state also pays one half the cost of required right-of-way.

The only cost to Kingston, therefore, is for the remaining half of whatever right-of-way may be necessary.

Mayor Frederick H. Stang will receive the plan Friday and the state public works department will be represented by several officials and others who have been interested in development of the master plan for Kingston.

To Be 41st City

Kingston will be the 41st city to which the state has presented a master plan since initiation of the program in 1946.

The plan includes complete information covering traffic survey, local conditions pertinent to solution of traffic problems, recommended construction, cost estimates and other valuable information. Of 79 pages in the report, 24 show graphs, charts, maps, aerial photographs and other illustrative material.

The state report from the Albany office of Bertram D. Tallamy, state public works superintendent, says the master plan for Kingston marks the culmination of an exhaustive study of Kingston traffic.

Basic Planning

A study of the basic planning data included population growth and density, zoned land use and motor vehicle registration, both in the city and county.

A comprehensive volume census and an origin and destination survey of the area were made in August, 1947. On Aug. 19, 1947, during a 12-hour period, a traffic

Near-Blizzard Hits New York With 15-Inch Fall Forecast

New York, Jan. 11 (AP)—Near-blizzard conditions brought New York city's worst snowstorm in five years today.

Reports from along the northeastern seaboard indicated the city was getting the full brunt of the wide-ranging storm.

Eight inches of snow had fallen at 7 a. m. (EST), and the Weather Bureau predicted a fall in excess of 15 inches before the storm subsides early tomorrow morning.

Strong winds were expected to cause deep drifts in open areas. Four deaths in New Jersey were reported due to the storm. Southern New England was expected to get a foot of snow, with an estimated four to six inches predicted for northern New England. Strong to gale winds, resulting in deep drifts, were forecast. Temperatures ranged as low as 23 degrees below zero at Caribou, Me.

The Weather Bureau predicted four inches of snow for upstate New York, where temperatures tumbled well below zero.

Highways Are Slippery

Highways were slippery over the entire area, but while traffic slowed down it continued moving, and transportation lines reported only comparatively slight delays.

Motorists apparently heeded warnings to stay off the roads and use public transportation facilities. The Automobile Club of New York said there was "very, very little" traffic on any of the highways in metropolitan New York.

Flight schedules were disrupted at LaGuardia Field and Idlewild Airport in New York city. Only one runway was open during the morning at each field. Snow removal crews experienced difficulty in clearing open runways when drifting snow covered areas previously cleared.

Newark Airport Operates

Newark, N. J., Airport reported operations near normal. The Weather Bureau said the New York area was in for fresh to strong winds, with gusts up to 45 miles an hour during the day. Temperatures during the early morning hours ranged under 20 degrees.

The U. S. Weather Bureau, which issued a special bulletin, said the fall here measured 8 inches at 7 a. m. The snow started yesterday at 2 p. m.

The forecast was for near-bliz-

Snow Causes Mishap

John Henzi, of Ulster Park escaped unhurt, but his car was badly damaged when it struck a pole of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp., on Abiel street near the sand bank at about 9:25 a. m. Sunday. The police report said the car was crowded to one side onto "loose snow" and swerved into the pole. The car was towed from the scene.

'Conscience' Group Gets 40 Days to Draft Methods

Albany, Jan. 11 (AP)—A special, 12-man "conscience committee" has 40 days to chart ways of putting any boodle beyond the reach of political-party and public officers in New York state.

Gov. Dewey and legislative leaders yesterday appointed eight lawmakers, three attorneys and a newspaperman to a special committee on integrity and ethical standards in government.

The eight Republicans and four Democrats are to draw up a code of ethics and a blacklist of business dealings considered improper for public and party officers.

They also will map rules for public officials who practice before state agencies and prepare a code of fair play for state investigations.

The committee, under instructions to report by Feb. 20 with proposals for legislation, is empowered to elect its own officers. Franklin R. Brown of Buffalo, president of the state bar assn., has been mentioned as a likely choice for chairman.

In announcing his appointments Dewey said the committee was "undertaking the difficult task of defining the conscience of the community in clear and workable terms." He named these four Republicans:

Brown; Charles C. Lockwood of Brooklyn, a former state senator and former state Supreme Court justice; Eli Whitney Deboise, New York city attorney and former U. S. assistant highway commissioner in Germany, and

Americans Among Dead in Crash Of British Plane

Porto Azzurro, Elba, Jan. 11 (AP)—Two Americans were listed today among the 35 persons missing and feared dead in the crash of a British comet jetliner in the Tyrrhenian Sea off Elba's Point Calamity.

A fishing boat recovered 15 bodies yesterday. Planes and ships kept up the search today for the other 20 aboard the Singapore-London pride of British air transport. The aircraft plunged into the sea yesterday morning between Elba, Napoleon's island of exile, and the Isle of Montecristo, off the northwest coast of the Italian peninsula.

The government-owned British Overseas Airways, operator of the comet, identified the American passengers as Mrs. Dorothy Baker of Wilmette, Ill., and H. E. Schuchmann, of the MacMillan Publishing Co. of New York.

It was not immediately known if their bodies had been recovered. Both Mrs. Baker and Schuchmann had joined the flight in Karachi, Pakistan.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Jan. 11 (AP)—Stocks drifted lower today in a rather quiet market.

The decline was not deep. At the most it went to around a point. There were few minus signs, and they were small.

The pace was a little better than that established Friday when 1,260,000 shares changed hands, but that total was relatively light.

Going down were the railroads, steels, motors, rubbers, tobaccos, and oils.

Utilities, coppers, motion pictures and distillers were fairly steady. Other sections of the market were mixed.

A flurry of activity early in the session sent South American gold up a fraction. Other golds were quiet.

Food fair, which raced up 3 points Friday at 33½, was down a fraction today. The company said directors have not considered selling the stock. The stock opened on a block of 2,500 shares up ½.

President Seeks Treaty Ratification

Washington, Jan. 11 (AP)—President Eisenhower today asked the Senate to ratify a mutual-security treaty with South Korea—a treaty he said is designed "to deter aggression by giving evidence of our common determination to meet the common danger."

The treaty was negotiated by Secretary of State Dulles when he visited Korea last August, and was signed in Washington last Oct. 1.

In submitting the treaty for ratification, Eisenhower said it:

"Reaffirms our belief that the security of an individual nation in the free world depends upon the security of its partners, and constitutes another link in the collective security of the free nations of the Pacific."

Two Cars Collide

State police at the Kingston station reported that automobiles driven by William T. Flemming, 36, of Route 3, Kingston, and Edward Blass, 28, of Stone Ridge, collided on the Shokan road in the town of Marbletown about 12:30 p. m. Saturday, when Blass' vehicle skidded on the snow covered pavement into Flemming's car, which had stopped to let another vehicle pass. Troopers said Charles P. Hampson, 44, of New York, a passenger riding with Flemming, received a bruised knee. Blass was issued a summons returnable before Justice of the Peace Roy Weber to answer charges of having improper registration plates and no insurance, troopers said.

The Ulster County Highway Department reported the southern part of the county appeared to be the worst hit by the storm, with about five inches of new snow reported by 10 a. m. The Cragmoor road was mentioned as one of the most difficult spots early today. Plows were dispatched beginning at 5 a. m., and by mid-morning all the county plows were at work, it was reported.

Supervisors Work All Night

Superintendent Ernest A. Steuding of the Kingston Department of Public Works reported that department crews worked all last night loading snow in the up-town business districts and as far down as Van Deusen street. New snow started falling about 2 a. m., and by 5 a. m. plows were ordered out to clear the residential streets. The work is expected to be completed about 2 p. m.

Tonight, the city plow crews will concentrate their efforts on clearing the business streets, where the traffic today prevented snow plowing. Tuesday night, he said, snow loaders will be assigned in the business districts.

Arthur J. Laidlaw, Kingston school superintendent, authorized a radio announcement at 7:30 a. m. today that all public schools in the city would be closed for the day, due to the snow. Other schools in the county also remained closed. The Ontario Central School at Boiceville, however, was one of the schools that held sessions as usual.

Must Use Chains

Washington, Jan. 11 (AP)—Snow with a foundation of ice underneath made capital motorists subject to arrest today if they get stuck on main streets without chains or special tires.

The planes range from single-engine models and helicopters to giant four-engine transports, of which the Defense Department has 723, with 55 more on order. One of the larger fleets is in the Commerce Department, where the Civil Aeronautics Administration operates 90.

Think It Through

By EDWARD F. HUTTON

I went to Washington and, when I got my railroad ticket, there was a yellow slip attached. It said:

"THIS 15% FEDERAL TRANSPORTATION TAX ADDS TO THE COST OF YOUR TRIP.

The total amount you have paid for your ticket includes Federal transportation tax. This tax amounts to 15 per cent of the tariff fare for your ticket, and is in addition to the charge made by this railroad.

Mr. Hutton proves the old adage:

"Power once usurped is never voluntarily surrendered."

As I sat in my parlor car seat and slept on my Pullman mattress, I thought: I'm paying a hidden tax for this comfort, too. Write your Congressman and tell him your views.

Democrats to state gets 5 per cent of the first $200,000, 6 per cent of the next $300,000, and 7 per cent of all over half a million. The track gets the rest.

Would Lower Prizes

James J. Dunningan, president of the Buffalo Trotting Assn., and Elliott Cushing, assistant to the president of the Genesee-Monroe Racing Assn., said an increase in the state's share of the first $200,000 would force them to lower their prizes. That they said, would drive owners of the top horses to other tracks.

"Instead of the big league brand of racing now offered in western New York," Cushing declared, "the sport in this area would become minor league."

The Democratic chairman, Richard H. Balch, said in a telegram to the governor that unemployment had jumped 55 per cent over the figure for December 1952, in the Troy area. He said other "big layoffs" were in progress in Watervliet and Utica.

He urged DeWey to "rally the economic leadership of our state and come to grips with this disturbing trend" through state employment centers and the Department of Commerce.

Proposes Commission

Assemblyman Daniel M. Kelly proposed a three-member commission that he said would not be "restricted solely to direction (by) the governor." He said he "challenged governor DeWey, and the Republican Legislature" to act favorably on a bill he will introduce tonight.

It would replace the present single commissioner with a three-member body empowered to probe matters suggested by the governor, the Legislature, or any two members of the commission.

Mayor Wagner's financial program also is expected to be presented tonight, in 15 or 16 bills prepared by New York city Democrats. Dewey already has rejected the bulk of the program, which calls for 145 million dollars in state assistance this year and 227 millions by 1957.

In a statement Saturday, Sen. Walter J. Mahoney of Buffalo and Assemblyman Lee B. Mailler of Cornwall, Republican majority leaders of the two houses, charged that Wagner's program was characterized by "distortions, half-truths and omissions."

They served notice that what they called "essential and long-recognized state taxing powers" would not be turned over to New York city.

Rebel Menace Is Wiped Out, French Forces Now Claim

Seno, Indochina, Jan. 11 (AP)—French paratroopers and North African troops kept up a "deadly game of hide and seek" today with Communist-led Vietminh guerrillas in the jungle northeast of this French-held Laotian fortress.

The French forces claimed more than 1,000 casualties among their rebel enemy and asserted they had wiped out any serious Vietminh menace in Central Laos.

They are fighting one of the most important battles of the seven-year war against Ho Chi Minh's rebels. It is a battle without regular front, on no fixed position, in a quadrangle 25 miles square here in Central Laos.

Not Capable of Attack

The French commander, Gen. Andre Franchi, declared the Vietminh no longer are capable of mounting an attack on Seno unless they receive substantial reinforcements from other fronts.

The paratroopers and North Africans pressed their attack today on rebel units trying to reach the shelter of a plateau to the north which might prove inaccessible to the French. Franchi's artillery and the air force pounded their columns day and night.

Seno is about 50 miles south of Thakhet and a few miles east of Savannakhet, in Laos. The Vietminh invaded area Dec. 22, virtually cutting Indochina in two. Laos and the neighboring states of Viet Nam and Cambodia make up Indochina, a part of the French union.

The French estimated the Vietminh forces taking part in the Seno operation at seven battalions of between 600 and 900 men each.

Coolies Are Blasted

French plane blasted the columns of coolies hauling supplies toward the Red rebel front and were credited with making the battle a tough one for the Vietminh.

The French also had a supply problem. Troops operating only 19 miles from their Seno base had to be supplied by parachute.

Red Trawler Seized In Norwegian Waters

Oslo, Norway, Jan. 11 (AP)—Norway's state radio announced today that Norwegian officials had seized a Russian trawler it said was fishing illegally in Norwegian territorial waters above the Arctic Circle.

The radio said the trawler tried to escape and the Norwegian inspection ship which found it had to fire several warning shots before officials could board it.

The trawler was reported taken to Vadsoe, a Norwegian Arctic sea port near the Russian border. The radio said the maritime court there would consider the case of the trawler.

Malenkov Gets Own Views

Berlin, Jan. 11 (AP)—Reports reaching foreign diplomats here say Soviet Premier Georgi Malenkov isn't taking the same Kremlin-eye view of the vast Soviet domain that they think limited Joseph Stalin's horizon. Information reaching these sources from Moscow says Stalin's 52-year-old successor is traveling widely through the Soviet Union, seeing conditions for himself. Several foreign legations report that Malenkov last fall toured the Finnish Gulf coastal area checking up on damage from an unpublicized hurricane. He later reportedly toured the Ukraine, paying particular attention there to complaints from peasants on collective farms.

More Planes Due

Washington, Jan. 11 (AP)—The Aircraft Industries Association said today the federal government has one of the largest non-military air fleets in the United States—949 aircraft now in operation and 69 more to be purchased. The planes range from single-engine models and helicopters to giant four-engine transports, of which the Defense Department has 723, with 55 more on order. One of the larger fleets is in the Commerce Department, where the Civil Aeronautics Administration operates 90.

Think It Through

By EDWARD F. HUTTON

I went to Washington and, when I got my railroad ticket, there was a yellow slip attached. It said: "THIS 15% FEDERAL TRANSPORTATION TAX ADDS TO THE COST OF YOUR TRIP. The total amount you have paid for your ticket includes Federal transportation tax. This tax amounts to 15 per cent of the tariff fare for your ticket, and is in addition to the charge made by this railroad."

Mr. Hutton

"Power once usurped is never voluntarily surrendered." As I sat in my parlor car seat and slept on my Pullman mattress, I thought: I'm paying a hidden tax for this comfort, too. Write your Congressman and tell him your views.

Democrats to state gets 5 per cent of the first $200,000 wagered, 6 per cent of the next $300,000, and 7 per cent of all over half a million. The track gets the rest.

Would Lower Prizes

James J. Dunningan, president of the Buffalo Trotting Assn., and Elliott Cushing, assistant to the president of the Genesee-Monroe Racing Assn., said an increase in the state's share of the first $200,000 would force them to lower their prizes. That, they said, would drive owners of the top horses to other tracks.

"Instead of the big league brand of racing now offered in western New York," Cushing declared, "the sport in this area would become minor league."

The Democratic chairman, Richard H. Balch, said in a telegram to the governor that unemployment had jumped 55 per cent over the figure for December 1952, in the Troy area. He said other "big layoffs" are in progress in Watervliet and Utica.

He urged Dewey to "rally the economic leadership of our state and come to grips with this disturbing trend" through state employment centers and the Department of Commerce.

Proposes Commission

Assemblyman Daniel M. Kelly proposed a three-member commission that he said would not be "restricted solely to direction (by) the governor." He said he "challenged governor Dewey and the Republican Legislature" to act favorably on a bill he will introduce tonight.

It would replace the present single commissioner with a three-member body empowered to probe matters suggested by the governor, the Legislature, or any two members of the commission. Mayor Wagner's financial program also is expected to be presented tonight, in 15 or 16 bills prepared by New York city Democrats. Dewey already has rejected the bulk of the program, which calls for 145 million dollars in state assistance this year and 227 millions by 1957.

In a statement Saturday, Sen. Walter J. Mahoney of Buffalo and Assemblyman Lee B. Mailler of Cornwall, Republican majority leaders of the two houses, charged that "Wagner's program was characterized by 'distortions, half-truths and omissions.'"

They served notice that what they called "essential and long-recognized state taxing powers" would not be turned over to New York city.

Straus fled his native Austria at the 1938 Anschluss and lived in Paris. In 1940, he fled the Nazis a second time and went to America, where he lived until after World War 2.

Rebel Menace Is Wiped Out, French Forces Now Claim

Seno, Indochina, Jan. 11 (AP)—French paratroopers and North African troops kept up a "deadly game of hide and seek" today with Communist-led Vietminh guerrillas in the jungle northeast of this French-held Laotian fortress. The French forces claimed more than 1,000 casualties among their rebel enemy and asserted they had wiped out any serious Vietminh menace in Central Laos.

They are fighting one of the most important battles of the seven-year war against Ho Chi Minh's rebels. It is a battle without regular front, on no fixed position, in a quadrangle 25 miles square here in Central Laos.

Not Capable of Attack

The French commander, Gen. Andre Franchi, declared the Vietminh no longer are capable of mounting an attack on Seno unless they receive substantial reinforcements from other fronts.

The paratroopers and North Africans pressed their attack today on rebel units trying to reach the shelter of a plateau to the north which might prove inaccessible to the French. Franchi's artillery and the air force pounded their columns day and night.

Seno is about 50 miles south of Thakhet and a few miles east of Savannakhet, in Laos. The Vietminh invaded area Dec. 22, virtually cutting Indochina in two. Laos and the neighboring states of Viet Nam and Cambodia make up Indochina, a part of the French union.

The French estimated the Vietminh forces taking part in the Seno operation at seven battalions of between 600 and 900 men each.

Coolies Are Blasted

French plane blasted the columns of coolies hauling supplies toward the Red rebel front and were credited with making the battle a tough one for the Vietminh.

The French also had a supply problem. Troops operating only 19 miles from their Seno base had to be supplied by parachute.

Red Trawler Seized In Norwegian Waters

Oslo, Norway, Jan. 11 (AP)—Norway's state radio announced today that Norwegian officials had seized a Russian trawler it said was fishing illegally in Norwegian territorial waters above the Arctic Circle.

The radio said the trawler tried to escape and the Norwegian inspection ship which found it had to fire several warning shots before officials could board it.

The trawler was reported taken to Vadsoe, a Norwegian Arctic sea port near the Russian border. The radio said the maritime court there would consider the case of the trawler.

Malenkov Gets Own Views

Berlin, Jan. 11 (AP)—Reports reaching foreign diplomats here say Soviet Premier Georgi Malenkov isn't taking the same Kromlin-eye view of the vast Soviet domain that they think limited Joseph Stalin's horizon. Information reaching these sources from Moscow says Stalin's 52-year-old successor is traveling widely through the Soviet Union, seeing conditions for himself. Several foreign legations report that Malenkov last fall toured the Finnish Gulf coastal area checking up on damage from an unpublished hurricane. He later reportedly toured the Ukraine, paying particular attention there to complaints from peasants on collective farms.

JAPS MUST COURT FORMER FOES

From Tokyo comes a report that the Japanese will try in 1954 to repair the bad relations they now have with several of their Asiatic neighbors. If true, the news is good. The Japs are said to be contemplating negotiations with the Philippines, Indonesia and Burma, all countries which their armed forces overran in World War II. These talks would inevitably embrace the topic of Japanese reparations for war damage inflicted.

Up to now the Japanese government has been unwilling to discuss this touchy subject in terms big enough to satisfy the still embittered peoples of these neighbor nations. But evidently a new attitude is developing.

Since the big war ended, Japan has been sustained economically by outright American aid and the heavy expenditures incident to prosecution of the Korean war. But now that aid has dwindled and the Korean conflict is over and seems unlikely to be resumed.

At the same time, the Japanese population has continued to mount at a swift pace. The increase can only be fed through greater imports or by taxing Japan's limited area of cultivable land more severely.

If imports are to be the answer, then Japan must sell more goods abroad to pay for them, and this in turn means further imports of industrial raw materials. So any sound economic future for a growing Japan must be defined in terms of enlarging trade.

The United States and other Western powers appear unwilling to absorb much additional Japanese output. They do not want Japan to deal in volume with Communist China. Consequently, the nations of Southeast Asia offer the only reasonable trading ground.

This possible economic tie-up between industrial Japan and undeveloped Southeast Asia has long been viewed by experts as a natural. But the inherited hostility from World War II has stood as a practical barrier to its realization.

Initiative for improved relations necessarily had to come from Japan. It could not be forced by the West. In fact, so long as America was pouring dollars into the Japanese islands, the effect was to reduce pressure upon Japan to patch things up with its Asian neighbors.

Now, however, the heat is on. The whole free world must wish at this juncture that Japan is indeed serious in seeking fresh understanding with its wartime victims. For a solid trade equation between this progressive industrial nation and its raw-material-producing associates in Asia would introduce into the Orient a powerful factor for stability and hence for peace.

By 1955 we should be adjusted to dating everything 1954.

SAUCE FOR THE GOOSE—

Some Washington observers say the Democrats are very angry at Republican attacks upon the Truman administration. Admittedly, some pretty harsh things have been said, especially by Governor Dewey of New York.

Democrats are reportedly incensed, too, that FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover should have testified "for" the Republicans in the White case.

But here they are on very soft ground. They argue that Hoover traditionally has remained aloof from political squabbles and should have done so this time. Yet the supportable evidence is that the Democrats themselves projected Hoover into the White case.

Former President Truman implied, and other Democrats privately said in so many words, that Hoover had approved Mr. Truman's course in keeping White in government despite suspicions against him.

For Hoover to have kept silent would have been to give credence to this version. But it did not represent the truth of his attitude. So he felt compelled to speak out to have the record show that he did not—as Democrats said—endorse Mr. Truman's retention of White.

The Democratic view suggests they think it fine for them to inject the FBI into poli-

THE DEFENSE OF THE CONSTITUTION

I received a letter signed by three important names, Lucius D. Clay, Edward S. Corwin, and John W. Davis. It is a form letter, probably sent to thousands of citizens, and came from the "Committee for Defense of the Constitution," a laudable purpose, indeed. The very first sentence hit me with all the vehemence of an advertising agency calling attention to a body odor. It read:

"The Constitution is again under attack."

Naturally I assumed that here might be another committee to fight the Communists, perhaps for their abuse of the Fifth Amendment, but I was in error. This committee was organized to fight Republicans and Democrats who favor the Bricker Amendment.

From the general tenor of the statement signed by these gentlemen, one would imagine that the American Constitution had been prepared by the Persians and the Medes and is unchangeable in every comma and semicolon. Actually, the Constitution makes ample provision for amendments and has been amended 22 times, including once to eliminate alcoholic beverages from our lives and another to restore such liquid refreshment, after a campaign in which one of the objectives was freeing beer from the bootleggers and racketeers.

Therefore, it must be reported that when the lawyers and laymen of this committee set out to frighten us by announcing another attack on the Constitution, they were mistaking the case, exaggerating the premise, engaging in fantasy, which may be characteristic of pleading lawyers, but is not likely to influence hard-headed Americans who recognize a fact when they see one. The fact they see is that while the Constitution provides that the legislative function of this nation is designated to Congress, it can be and is being performed by foreigners in the United Nations because of treaties signed for what appears to be one particular purpose but becomes expanded to be all-inclusive. Cases have already been in our courts concerning this and in most of them the United States has lost to the foreigners.

The Constitution needs to be amended to protect this country from alien powers whose activities neither Alexander Hamilton, John Jay nor James Madison could have foreseen. In fact, none of the delegates to the Constitutional Convention could have imagined that the United States would ever become involved so deeply in the affairs of Europe, Asia and Africa, they, the delegates, just having freed themselves from Great Britain and European tutelage.

The difference of opinion here is a hidden one—not at all the one that is generally discussed. What is really at stake is this: The internationalists have not appraised the events that have happened since our government finally discovered that Soviet Russia is not an ally but an enemy. They have learned nothing from the failure of the Marshall Plan and the development of neutralism among nations to which we contributed billions of dollars. They have learned nothing from France's sabotage of the European Defense Community. They have learned nothing from the inability of NATO to form a European Army or from the establishment of one overt and two covert Communist governments in Latin America. They do not seem to realize that the Panama Canal is in peril.

And having learned nothing, they proceed as though the United States can afford to pursue a policy devised in the first five years of the 1940s and which brought to our country disaster and humiliation.

These matters these internationalists do not wish to have discussed openly on the floor of the Senate in relation to treaties written between this country and some others. They can avoid such discussions by secret executive agreement which bind the American people to conditions of which they are not cognizant. They generally hold that such legislation as Senator Bricker now proposes, and John Foster Dulles supported before he became Secretary of State but now rejects, is unnecessary because Dwight D. Eisenhower is President. How can anyone consistently support in the Eisenhower Administration what he opposed in the Roosevelt and Truman Administrations?

The United States will continue after Eisenhower is no longer President as it is continuing after Roosevelt and Truman are no longer President. If John Foster Dulles favored the principles of the Bricker Amendment when Truman was President, why does he oppose them now? (Copyright, 1954, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

MULTIPLE SCLEROSIS

Some years ago I wrote a series of daily articles comparing the body to an automobile in which I likened the brain and nerves to the battery of the car because the brain and nerves control all mental, physical and emotional activities of the body.

In comparing the brain and nerves to the electrical parts of the motor car, the fact was stated that just as the wires are insulated, so are the nerves of the body insulated by a waxy covering or myelin sheath of the nerve fibres. That the destruction or partial destruction of this waxy covering of the nerves may be a cause of one of the most serious nervous diseases, multiple sclerosis—hardening of parts of spinal cord and brain with slow speech, trembling, continuous eye movements—is being investigated by a group of medical scientists of the University of Rochester, headed by Dr. Richard C. Fowler. Dr. Fowler has discovered that the quantity of cyanide in the blood stream of the disease's victims is almost identical to that which causes similar symptoms in healthy people who, in one way or another, absorb unusually large quantities of this poison. The amount of about one-tenth of the quantity which is sometimes fatal. It was found that the administration of the chemical thiosulphate causes an immediate disappearance of the cyanide from the blood stream.

"By using infra-red spectroscopy, a technique never before applied to multiple sclerosis study, Dr. Fowler and his associates discovered that an abnormal material was present in the blood stream of persons suffering with certain nervous conditions characterized by the destruction of the waxy covering of nerve fibres. This material was found to be cyanide which directly or indirectly attacks and destroys the nerve covering."

As yet no reason has been discovered why the systems of a few people are unable to dispose of the cyanide present in the average diet or produced within the individual himself.

Among other members of the staff of the University of Rochester working with Dr. Fowler are Drs. Anthony J. Durtetaki and Paul H. Garvey on the multiple sclerosis project, which is guided by Dr. Wallace O. Fenn, Assistant Dean.

The three outstanding symptoms of multiple sclerosis which usually attacks those under forty are (a) slow or scanty speech, (b) trembling when going to pick up an object and (c) nystagmus—moving of eyes from side to side.

Dr. Fowler is a physician, physiologist, and an electrical engineer. The fact that he is an electrical engineer, besides a physiologist and physician, may be one reason why the brain and insulated nerves in his mind so greatly resembled the battery and electrical system of a car.

tics—but wrong for anyone else. Is this quite reasonable?

Hear Ye, Hear Ye, Congress Is Now in Session!

Edson's Washington News Notebook

Washington (NEA)—Some new prize examples of double talk and gobbledygook were invented by the several hundred professional economists from all over the country who gathered in Washington for their annual convention. It all started over speculation about business conditions in 1954. Still remembering how wrong their tribe was in 1929, the economists played it safe this time, and made no flat predictions.

Instead of saying there would be a depression, they talked about an "orthodox recession." Instead of saying that a lot of people might lose their jobs and become unemployed, the economists talked about increasing "disemployment."

When a business slump is orthodox and when it's unorthodox wasn't explained. The inference seems to be that it's orthodox only when the economists say it's here or predict it's coming. If the experts don't expect a depression—as they didn't in 1929—it's of course unorthodox. But either kind hurts just as bad.

Also unexplained is whether it hurts any less to be "disemployed" than "unemployed." The easy answer is that it doesn't.

Well-Planted Solons

With Congress back in Washington, the U. S. Botanic Garden expects a busy January. Every congressman is free to request three plants, from this government greenhouse at the foot of Capitol Hill, to beautify his office. It means supplying over 1500 potted plants, at the taxpayers' expense.

During the summer recesses, when some congressmen close their offices, they turn the plants back to the garden, and the botanists baby them till January.

Getting Their Goats

There was a double birthday celebration at U. S. Department of Commerce, along with the New Year festivities. The guest of honor was Undersecretary Walter Williams whose birthday was Dec. 30. But the chief arranger was Assistant Secretary Carl Ochsle, whose birthday was Dec. 31.

There was a cake and coffee. Secretary Ochsle gave Undersecretary Williams a carved wooden goat. Nothing personal. It was for "Capricornus," the constellation in the zodiac under which the two officials were born.

Dean Can Dish It, Too

Though it has not been reported in detail, U. S. Special Ambassador Arthur H. Dean has been dining it out as well as having to take it in his seven weeks of haggling with Chinese Communist negotiators over the Korean peace treaty arrangements at Panmunjom.

The U. S.-South Korean delegation has consisted of only four principal negotiators for the United Nations side. They have been pitted against anywhere from 25 to 40 Communist negotiators. One of the Chinese Red advisers has been a Harvard Ph.D. with a thorough knowledge of American policy and perfect mastery of English.

Much of the argument has been over admission of Russia to the peace conference. In one session a Chinese Red confronted Ambassador Dean with an American Newspaper clipping in which U. S. Sen. William F. Knowland (R-Calif.) was quoted as accusing the Russians of never keeping a promise or an agreement.

In the light of that, the Reds wanted to know why the UN was insisting that the Russians be present? In that instance, Dean and his team had to take it.

In another exchange, the UN negotiating team was insisting that Russia be given an engraved invitation to the peace conference. It was absolutely necessary that Russia be there.

"That cannot be!" broke in Wang Huang-hua, chief Red negotiator and the number four or number five Communist in China. He said it before the translator put the English statement in Chinese.

The UN delegates got the laugh on that one, for the Chinaman had been insisting all along that he did not speak English. They had trapped him neatly.

Rather Not Know?

"I'd rather not know," said the ostrich, hiding his head in the sand when he saw the hunters. He was an un-American ostrich.

The American way is to want to know. No democracy could survive if everyone preferred not to know about crime and corruption. A good citizen looks the facts in the face, and then does something about them. But sometimes you'll hear a man who is a good citizen in every way say that he'd rather not know whether he has tuberculosis.

It's a funny thing, you can't imagine his saying he'd rather not know he has mumps or small pox or the plague. Of course, the symptoms of those diseases would soon make him uncomfortable and he would head for the nearest doctor to find out what the trouble was. Our good citizen can have TB for sometime without feeling or looking sick. So he is able not to know, until the disease has made serious inroads in his constitution and he is a very sick man indeed.

While his head has been in the sand, he had lengthened the odds on his recovery. It will take him longer to get well when he finally gets around to facing the facts. And, worse, he had endangered the health, the very lives of people near him—his wife and children, his neighbors, the people he works with.

Tuberculosis is contagious. Our ostrich citizen caught the germs from someone without knowing it. He can pass them on just as innocently. It isn't difficult to find out the truth. If you will go to your doctor for a regular physical exam with a chest X-ray once a year or as often as his advises, you can be sure that any signs of illness will be found. If TB should strike, it will probably be discovered before it has had a chance to do irreparable damage. In many communities, chest X-ray programs are carried on so that every adult has an opportunity to be X-rayed at little or no cost.

It takes only a few minutes to find out for sure that you don't have tuberculosis. A good citizen is not an ostrich.

Second Look at President's Plan to Allow 18-Year-Olds to Vote Creates Problems

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Jan. 11—In President Eisenhower's "something-for-everybody" message to Congress, there's one proposal which certainly on second thought will not look as good to some people as it did at first. That's the recommendation for a constitutional amendment which will permit 18-year olds to vote.

Few people who read it probably realized that it meant the vote for 18-year-old girls as well as boys. Also if the controlling argument is that a boy 18 years old is not too young to fight for his country he ought to be considered old enough to vote, the reverse is also true—an 18-year-old girl would likewise be eligible for military service.

Women have never been drafted for war—but many of them have volunteered in the last two wars. It is obvious that many millions of young men could be used in the front lines and in the heavier duties of supply units if girls could be used for the clerical and desk jobs and even for the domestic service in the kitchens for which able-bodied men now are utilized.

But the whole subject of voting age has not been thought through by those who for political or sentimental reasons want to lower the voting age to 18. What exactly should be the criterion for voting in a democracy? Is calendar age the only real basis for measurement? Or is it mental age?

Thus if girls are to vote it may well be argued that the voting age should be reduced to 16 because many experts say the girl of 16 is as matured if not more so than the boy of 18. Judging from the letters on public affairs received by this correspondent there are many girls and boys aged 16 and even lower who seem to know more about what's happening in their country and the problems of the day than those who are far above the present voting age. Former President Truman gave a hint on the latter point when he said that instead of reducing the voting age to 18, it might better be considered whether the voting age should be advanced to 24. Many politicians will disagree with him but anybody who has studied the interest in campaigns taken by persons below 30 will discover that it doesn't begin to compare with the interest manifested by those above 30. Not that there aren't many in the lower age groups who don't take an interest in public affairs and reading above the issues. But the proportion is much smaller as the age bracket moves down.

While on the subject of amending the Constitution to fix the proper voting age it might be worth while to consider adding a section on compulsory voting. Other countries such as Australia have adopted that practice. It might be stipulated that anyone who other than because of illness or disability didn't vote might lose his vote for three successive elections.

Provisions have been made now—advising absentee voting so that this is not longer an excuse when business or other urgent reasons for travel takes the citizens away from his home on election day.

But notwithstanding all this the proportion of citizens who vote as related to the total number of citizens over 21 now eligible to vote has been steadily going down in the last 50 years. One reason advanced is that women do not vote in as big numbers as men and that this brings the total percentage down. Whatever the reason the fact is that a little more than half of those eligible to vote do so in presidential elections and as for congressional and local elections the percentages are even smaller.

Reasons for not voting have never been accurately measured though some research has been done along that line. It would seem logical that many persons who do not vote frankly do not know what the shouting is all about and have never related public questions directly to their own lives. Others are well aware of the meaning of the issues but see little choice between present day parties or candidates and hence do not bother to vote—they don't think it makes much difference anyhow.

By adding several more million eligible voters in the teen-age brackets the percentage of those who go to the polls probably would go down still further. But in answer to this it might be argued that a substantial amount of intelligence would nevertheless be added to the total judgment of the electorate—and that is always worthwhile. Baubles, Bangles and Bums
As the old year hobbles off to join its ancestors—that is, if a stumblebum year like 1953 has any ancestors—I would like to pass out a few medals, scrolls and citations to some of the outstanding bores, blackguards and buffoons of the past twelve months.

I hereby award:
The Hand-Carved Gorgonzola to Mrs. T. J. White, member of the Indiana Textbook Committee, who demanded that "Robin Hood" be banned from the public schools because it was a subversive story.

The Camembert Citation to Zachary Scott who has been appearing on Times Square with a gold earring in one pierced ear, explaining that for a man to wear two earrings would be ostentatious.

The Roquefort Rosette to certain cigarette manufacturers—not because I'm so sure their product causes lung cancer, but because they're so all-fired sure it doesn't.

The Linderkranz Loving Cup to Judge Crater for letting another year go by without showing up. (Could it be that he doesn't like us?)

The Lace-Trimmed Watch Charm to the Fifth Amendment for showing up almost every day during 1953 at the drop of a subpoena.

The Schmaltz Herring Scroll to Elsa Maxwell who didn't get down on all fours and let the donkey ride her to the Marquis de Cuevas' hundred-grand clam bake.

The Mouldy Pastrami Parchment to Professor Kinsey for introducing an allegedly scientific book with the restraint of a Coney Island pitchman.

The Dill Pickle Diploma to the Piltdown Man who turned out to be as phony as half a dozen of my "dearest friends."

The Swiss Cheese Statuette to the gent who has been escorting Christine Jorgensen around, thus demonstrating that love springs eternal in the human breast.

The Order of the Halibut to those New York landlords who refused to junk their antiquated gas refrigerators, even after several tenants had been asphyxiated by them.

The Parmesan Plaque to the dancer with mink coats who bought matching mink coats for their poodles.

The Star and Dragging Garter

to Father Time who has been hanging around Sixth avenue lately and violating the anti-noise regulations by sharpening his scythe so loudly.

The Mildewed Maternity Medal to Mrs. "Reasona" Gabor for any of three reasons:
The Mashed Turnip Boutonniere to the economists who recently predicted a "mild recession" for 1954 and stated with unalloyed cheerfulness that "only three and a half million people would be unemployed."

The Stewed Rhubarb Ribbon to Jenkins A. Hill, the Grove Hill Alabama sheriff who, when charged with being a moonshiner, killed the unarmed Negro who had testified against him, claiming he was "resisting arrest."

The Cheddar Cheese Oscar to George Dupre, "The Man Who Wouldn't Talk" except to Quentin Reynolds, Reader's Digest and the whole darn world.

The Pig's Knuckle Lavaliere to the innocent and not-so-innocent, here and abroad, who maintained that anti-Semitism was responsible for the conviction and execution of the miserable Rosenbergs.

The Liverwurst Shield with Scalloons to a certain Domini 1953 for having the audacity to show its face in public.

The Wormwood Bouquet to the writer of this column who forgot, in his recent matrimonial mix-up, that charges and countercharges never settled anything except one's own hash—and who hereby apologizes to all, sundry and one in particular. (Copyright, 1954, by Billy Rose)

No Apple for Teacher!

Omaha (AP)—An apple for the teacher? Omaha school officials say the custom seems to be dying out in many schools. One school man explained "children like to bring things to school but we encourage them to bring things that will interest other members of the class." A science teacher could recall only one instance when she got an apple as a present. But she did get other "presents," including a salamander, caterpillars, a raccoon's feet, snakes, rocks, shells, bats, tadpoles and a fish's skeleton.

JAPS MUST COURT FORMER FOES

From Tokyo comes a report that the Japanese will try in 1954 to repair the bad relations they now have with several of their Asiatic neighbors. If true, the news is good. The Japs are said to be contemplating negotiations with the Philippines, Indonesia and Burma, all countries which their armed forces overran in World War II. These talks would inevitably embrace the topic of Japanese reparations for war damage inflicted.

Up to now the Japanese government has been unwilling to discuss this touchy subject in terms big enough to satisfy the still embittered peoples of these neighbor nations. But evidently a new attitude is developing.

Since the big war ended, Japan has been sustained economically by outright American aid and the heavy expenditures incident to prosecution of the Korean war. But now that aid has dwindled and the Korean conflict is over and seems unlikely to be resumed.

At the same time, the Japanese population has continued to mount at a swift pace. The increase can only be fed through greater imports or by taxing Japan's limited area of cultivable land more severely.

If imports are to be the answer, then Japan must sell more goods abroad to pay for them, and this in turn means further imports of industrial raw materials. So any sound economic future for a growing Japan must be defined in terms of enlarging trade.

The United States and other Western powers appear unwilling to absorb much additional Japanese output. They do not want Japan to deal in volume with Communist China. Consequently, the nations of Southeast Asia offer the only reasonable trading ground.

This possible economic tie-up between industrial Japan and undeveloped Southeast Asia has long been viewed by experts as a natural. But the inherited hostility from World War II has stood as a practical barrier to its realization.

Initiative for improved relations necessarily had to come from Japan. It could not be forced by the West. In fact, so long as America was pouring dollars into the Japanese islands, the effect was to reduce pressure upon Japan to patch things up with its Asian neighbors.

Now, however, the heat is on. The whole free world must wish at this juncture that Japan is indeed serious in seeking fresh understanding with its wartime victims. For a solid trade equation between this progressive industrial nation and its raw-material-producing associates in Asia would introduce into the Orient a powerful factor for stability and hence for peace.

By 1955 we should be adjusted to dating everything 1954.

SAUCE FOR THE GOOSE—

Some Washington observers say the Democrats are very angry at Republican attacks upon the Truman administration. Admittedly, some pretty harsh things have been said, especially by Governor Dewey of New York.

Democrats are reportedly incensed, too, that FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover should have testified "for" the Republicans in the Harry White spy case.

But here they are on very soft ground. They argue that Hoover traditionally has remained aloof from political squabbles and should have done so this time. Yet the supportable evidence is that the Democrats themselves projected Hoover into the White case.

Former President Truman implied, and other Democrats privately said in so many words, that Hoover had approved Mr. Truman's course in keeping White in government despite suspicions against him.

For Hoover to have kept silent would have been to give credence to this version. But it did not represent the truth of his attitude. So he felt compelled to speak out to have the record show that he did not—as Democrats said—endorse Mr. Truman's retention of White.

The Democratic view suggests they think it fine for them to inject the FBI into poli-

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE DEFENSE OF THE CONSTITUTION

I received a letter signed by three important names, Lucius D. Clay, Edward S. Corwin, and John W. Davis. It is a form letter, probably sent to thousands of citizens, and came from the "Committee for Defense of the Constitution," a laudable purpose, indeed. The very first sentence hit me with all the vehemence of an advertising agency calling attention to a body odor. It read:

"The Constitution is again under attack." Naturally I assumed that here might be another committee to fight the Communists, perhaps for their abuse of the Fifth Amendment, but I was in error. This committee was organized to fight Republicans and Democrats who favor the Bricker Amendment.

From the general tenor of the statement signed by these gentlemen, one would imagine that the American Constitution had been prepared by the Persians and the Medes and is unchangeable in every comma and semicolon. Actually, the Constitution makes ample provision for amendments and has been amended 22 times, including once to eliminate alcoholic beverages from our lives and another time to restore such liquid refreshment, after a campaign in which one of the objectives was freeing beer from the bootleggers and racketeers.

Therefore, it must be reported that when the lawyers and laymen of this committee set out to frighten us by announcing another attack on the Constitution, they were mistaking the case, exaggerating the premise, engaging in fantasy, which may be characteristic of pleading lawyers, but is not likely to influence hard-headed Americans who recognize a fact when they see one. The fact they see is that while the Constitution provides that the legislative function of this nation is designated to Congress, it can be and is being performed by foreigners in the United Nations because of treaties signed for what appears to be one particular purpose but becomes expanded to be all-inclusive. Cases have already been in our courts concerning this and in most of them the United States has lost to the foreigners.

The Constitution needs to be amended to protect this country from the new powers which activities neither Alexander Hamilton, John Jay nor James Madison could have foreseen. In fact, none of the delegates to the Constitutional Convention could have imagined that the United States would ever become involved so deeply in the affairs of Europe, Asia and Africa, they, the delegates, just having freed themselves from Great Britain and European tutelage.

The difference of opinion here is a hidden one—not at all the one that is generally discussed. What is really at stake is this: The internationalists have learned nothing since 1945. They have not truly appraised the events that have happened since our government finally discovered that Soviet Russia is not an ally but an enemy. They have learned nothing from the failure of the Marshall Plan and the development of neutralism among nations to which we contributed billions of dollars. They have learned nothing from France's sabotage of the European Defense Community. They have learned nothing from the inability of NATO to form a European Army or from the establishment of one overt and two covert Communist governments in Latin America. They do not seem to realize that the Panama Canal is a threat to our security.

And having learned nothing, they proceed as though the United States can afford to pursue a policy devised in the first five years of the 1940s and which brought to our country disaster and humiliation. These matters these internationalists do not wish to have discussed openly on the floor of the Senate in relation to treaties written between this country and some others. They can avoid such discussions by secret executive agreements which bind the American people to conditions of which they are not cognizant. They generally hold that such legislation as Senator Bricker now proposes, and John Foster Dulles supported before he became Secretary of State but now rejects, is unnecessary because Dwight D. Eisenhower is President. How can anyone consistently support in the Eisenhower Administration what he opposed in the Roosevelt and Truman Administrations?

The United States will continue after Eisenhower is no longer President as it is continuing after Roosevelt and Truman are no longer President. If John Foster Dulles favored the principles of the Bricker Amendment when Truman was President, why does he oppose them now? (Copyright, 1954, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

MULTIPLE SCLEROSIS

Some years ago I wrote a series of daily articles comparing the body to an automobile in which I likened the brain and nerves to the battery of the car because the brain and nerves control all mental, physical and emotional activities of the body.

In comparing the brain and nerves to the electrical parts of the motor car, the fact was stated that just as the wires are insulated, so are the nerves of the body insulated by a waxy covering or myelin sheath of the nerve fibres. That the destruction or partial destruction of this waxy covering of the nerves may be a cause of one of the most serious nervous diseases, multiple sclerosis—hardening of parts of spinal cord and brain with slow speech, trembling, continuous eye movements—is being investigated by a group of medical scientists of the University of Rochester, headed by Dr. Richard C. Fowler. Dr. Fowler has discovered that the quantity of cyanide in the blood stream of the disease's victims is almost identical to that which causes similar symptoms in healthy people who, in one way or another, absorb unusually large quantities of this poison. The amount of about one-tenth of the quantity which is sometimes fatal. It was found that the administration of the chemical thiosulphate causes an immediate disappearance of the cyanide from the blood stream.

"By using infra-red spectroscopy, a technique never before applied to multiple sclerosis study, Dr. Fowler and his associates discovered that an abnormal material was present in the blood stream of persons suffering with certain nervous conditions characterized by the destruction of the waxy covering of nerve fibres. This material was found to be cyanide which directly or indirectly attacks and destroys the nerve covering."

As yet no reason has been discovered why the systems of a few people are unable to dispose of the cyanide present in the average diet or produced within the individual himself.

Among other members of the staff of the University of Rochester working with Dr. Fowler are Drs. Anthony J. Durtetaki and Paul H. Garvey on the multiple sclerosis project, which is guided by Dr. Wallace C. Fenn, Assistant Dean.

The three outstanding symptoms of multiple sclerosis which usually attacks those under forty are (a) slow or scanning speech, (b) trembling when going to pick up an object, and (c) nystagmus—moving of eyes from side to side.

Dr. Fowler is a physician, physiologist, and an electrical engineer. The fact that he is an electrical engineer, besides a physiologist and physician, may be one reason why the brain and insulated nerves in his mind so greatly resembled the battery and electrical system of a car.

Hear Ye, Hear Ye, Congress Is Now in Session!

Edson's Washington News Notebook

Washington — (NEA) — Some new prize examples of double talk and gobbledygook were invented by the several hundred professional economists from all over the country who gathered in Washington for their annual convention. It all started over speculation about business conditions in 1954. Still remembering how wrong their tribe was in 1929, the economists played it safe this time, and made no flat predictions.

Instead of saying there would be a depression, they talked about an "orthodox recession." Instead of saying that a lot of people might lose their jobs and become unemployed, the economists talked about increasing "disemployment."

When a business slump is orthodox and when it's unorthodox wasn't explained. The inference seems to be that it's orthodox only when the economists say it's here or predict it's coming. If the experts don't expect a depression—as they didn't in 1929—it's of course unorthodox. But either kind hurts just as bad.

Also unexplained is whether it hurts any less to be "disemployed" than "unemployed." The easy answer is that it doesn't.

Well-Planted Solons

With Congress back in Washington, the U. S. Botanic Garden expects a busy January. Every congressman is free to request three plants from this government greenhouse at the foot of Capitol Hill, to beautify his office. It means supplying over 1500 potted plants, at the taxpayers' expense.

During the summer recesses, when some congressmen close their offices, they turn the plants back to the garden, and the botanists baby them till January.

Getting Their Goats

There was a double birthday celebration at U. S. Department of Commerce, along with the New Year festivities. The guest of honor was Undersecretary Walter Williams whose birthday was Dec. 30. But the chief arranger was Assistant Secretary Carl Oechsle, whose birthday was Dec. 31.

There was a cake and coffee. Secretary Oechsle gave Undersecretary Williams a carved wooden goat. Nothing personal. It was for "Capricornus," the constellation in the zodiac under whose astrological influence the two officials were born.

Dean Can Dish It, Too

Though it has not been reported in detail, U. S. Special Ambassador Arthur H. Dean has been dishing it out as well as having to take it in his seven weeks of haggling with Chinese Communist negotiators over the Korean peace treaty arrangements at Panmunjom.

The U. S.-South Korean delegation has consisted of only four principal negotiators for the United Nations side. They have been pitted against anywhere from 25 to 40 Communist negotiators. One of the Chinese Red advisers has been a Harvard Ph.D. with a thorough knowledge of American policy and perfect mastery of English.

Much of the argument has been over admission of Russia to the peace conference. In one session a Chinese Red confronted Ambassador Dean with an American Newspaper clipping in which U. S. Sen. It would seem logical that many persons who do not vote frankly do not know what the shouting is all about and have never related public questions directly to their own lives. Others are well aware of the meaning of the issues but see little choice between present day parties or candidates and hence do not bother to vote—they don't think it makes much difference anyhow.

By adding several more million eligible voters in the teen-age brackets the percentage of those who go to the polls probably would go down still further. But in answer to this it might be argued that a substantial amount of intelligence would nevertheless be added to the total judgment of the electorate—and that is always worthwhile.

As the old year hobbles off to join its ancestors—that is, if a stumblebum year like 1953 has any ancestors—I would like to pass out a few medals, scrolls and citations to some of the outstanding bores, blackguards and buffoons of the past twelve months.

Thereby awarded:

The Hand-Carved Gorgonzola to Mrs. T. J. White, member of the Indiana Textbook Committee, who demanded that "Robin Hood" be banned from the public schools because it was a subversive story. The Camembert Citation to Zachary Scott who has been appearing on Times Square with a goat on his back, and a man who explaining that for a man to wear two earrings would be ostentatious.

The Roquefort Rosette to certain cigarette manufacturers—not because I'm so sure their product causes lung cancer, but because they're so all-fired sure it doesn't.

The Linderkrantz Loving Cup to Judge Crater for letting another year go by without showing up. (Could it be that he doesn't like us?)

The Lace-Trimmed Watch Charm to the Fifth Amendment for showing up almost every day during 1953 at the drop of a subpoena.

The Schmaltz Herring Scroll to Elsa Maxwell who didn't get down on all fours and let the donkey ride her to the Marquis de Cuevas' hundred-grand clam bake.

The Mouldy Pastrami Parchment to Professor Kinsey for introducing an allegedly scientific book with the restraint of a Coney Island pitchman.

The Dill Pickle Diploma to the Pitltdown Man who turned out to be as phony as half a dozen of my "dearest friends."

The Swiss Cheese Statuette to the gent who has been escorting Christine Jorgensen around, thus demonstrating that hope springs eternal in the human breast.

The Order of the Halibut to those New York landlords who refused to junk their antiquated gas refrigerators, even after several tenants had been asphyxiated by them.

The Parmesan Plaque to the dames with mink coats who bought matching mink coats for their poodles.

The Star and Dragging Garter

Plowden to Speak
On Civil Defense

Saugerties, Jan. 9—Larry Campanella, post supervisor for the Ground Observer Corps in this area, announced that there would be a community mass meeting Friday, Jan. 29, at 8 p. m. at municipal auditorium. The principal speaker will be Major William M. Plowden, commandant of the White Plains Filter Center. The main purpose of the meeting will be to convince people of the necessity for maintaining Operation Skywatch in Saugerties on a 24-hour basis.

Campanella said that the meeting had been called through the request of Major Plowden because the major wishes to speak directly to the people. Campanella further asked for full community support of this mass meeting. He further said, "Today we need at least 168 observers in Saugerties. We only have about 60. Of these 60, only about 20 are consistent in that they report each and every week."

"Many of these voluntarily double up, on tours. Everyone is looking for his neighbor to do the job. The result can be disastrous. The neighbor is not volunteering and neither are you. The observers that have volunteered have become despondent because of the attitude of the people and some have even quit."

Responsibility of All
"This is not fair," Campanella continued, "it is everyone's responsibility to contribute two hours of their time each week just as much as those who are already doing so. If humility is necessary, then I humbly beg you one and all to please attend this meeting and listen to what Major Plowden has to say. You will definitely learn some things which you have never realized before. So please come."

"Some months ago," he continued, "Val Petersen, Federal Civil Defense Director, made a statement on television that if it becomes necessary he would request Congress to pass a law to draft volunteers. This is something that nobody wants. It is for this reason that post supervisors all over the country are redoubling their efforts to try to get their posts manned on a 24-hour basis. I must confess that this is the ultimate in volunteerism."

"If we fail at this meeting to get the required amount of volunteers we need, I will have no other recourse left and will have to concede that Saugerties has failed. We cannot impose any longer on the present observers to maintain longer schedules to keep the post opened, while the majority of the people in this town go on their merry way having a good time and letting these people do their work for them."

Scout Week Plans Made on Thursday
Saugerties, Jan. 9—At the Saugerties District Scouters meeting Thursday night plans were formulated for increased activities and an extensive program for National Boy Scout Week which will begin Feb. 7. Plans are being made to have store window displays set up throughout the business section. Each troop or pack will decorate one or more store windows with various scouting equipment and articles of scoutcraft. These displays will be on view all during National Boy Scout Week.

One of the outstanding events of the week will be the Boy Scout rally which is now being organized by District Commissioner William Plimley and his committee. The rally is scheduled for Wednesday, Feb. 10, at municipal auditorium. Special Boy Scout Church services are all being scheduled for that week.

In the camping report presented by Frank Teel, Scout Field Executive of the Rip Van Winkle Council regarding the need for additional adult supervision at camp next summer, it was brought out that one merchant in the Council's area was permitting an employee to spend a week at camp with his troop. It might be added that the merchant is also paying his employee his regular wages during the week he spends at camp. This is one way of solving the supervision problem but it would have to rely on the generosity of a few interested merchants.

Teel also reported that the council is planning a program to contact local organizations for the purpose of sponsoring new Boy Scout units.

Mention was also made of the initial activity of the Explorer Program. A guided tour of the Brooklyn Navy Yard has been arranged for and will take place Sunday, Jan. 24. Commissioner Plimley announced that he was going with quite a few boys from the Saugerties district. It was reported that a few seats on the bus going down were still available and the quickest way to make a reservation at this time was to contact the Rip Van Winkle Council office 260 Fair street in Kingston.

Also mentioned in Teel's report was an Explorer's Workshop which will be held Saturday, Jan. 30 at 10 a. m. in the Hotel Wellington in Albany. The workshop will be in session until 4 p. m. Scouting units represented included Cub Pack 130, Cub Pack 38, Boy scout troops 31, 32, 33, 35, 36, 130 and Explorer Post 130. Among the other scouts present were the Rev. Harold E. Pangburn and Mayor George P. Holmes.

Klein Says Fare
Increase Only Way To Meet Demands

New York, Jan. 11 (AP)—Harris J. Klein, New York City Transit Authority member, said today that demands of the CIO Transport Workers Union (TWU) "could be granted only through a fare increase" on the municipal bus and subway lines.

Klein said TWU President Michael J. Quill knows this. In a speech prepared for the Brooklyn Civic Council, a private group, Klein said Quill "never had any intention either to bargain or negotiate in good faith with the Transit Authority."

Emphasizing that he was speaking for himself and not for the other four Transit Authority members, Klein added: "His (Quill's) purpose was to kill time for a short period so that a fact-finding committee might bail him out, so that he could give the impression to members of his union that it was not he who failed to get his exorbitant demands, but someone else."

Increases Asked
The TWU has asked wage increases and changes in working conditions that would cost an estimated 50 million dollars annually. The union and the authority have accepted Mayor Robert F. Wagner's proposal to submit the matter to a fact-finding board. The fact finders' decision is not binding.

Klein said fares could be reduced by curbing the working force. He said this could be done by the Transit Authority deciding not to fill vacancies caused by retirement, resignations or similar reasons.

He pledged to present in the future "a definite plan and program for the reduction of the present fare."

Klein said the authority has five men doing the job which, by comparison with other municipal transit systems, should be done by four.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

I received a nice letter from Miss Belle Short who for many years had a photo studio on the Strand. She now resides with her sister, also a former Kingstonian, Mrs. Keene at 563 Eastlawn avenue, Detroit, Mich. They are both well informed on the doings in their home town, as they receive The Daily Freeman. Miss Short enclosed a clipping she received from her sister-in-law, the name of the newspaper is not given. It is a column called "Ad-Libbing with the Ad-Man Jerry Dewar" and you guessed it, it is about our old "Ulster County Gazette" of January 1800, which described the death of Washington. As I have often said, every such item adds just a little more information to the subject. So quoting from Dewar's column: "The account in the weekly Ulster County Gazette on Washington's funeral was at least two weeks old by the time it reached print. The good Samuel Freer had to run a store in Kingston to make enough money to run his newspaper. Ads were not too plentiful. About a quarter of them were from Samuel Freer himself. He was certainly sold on his own paper's ability to sell merchandise." Of course in 1800 news traveled much, slower than it does today therefore the two weeks delay.

It is interesting to read these various columns from unknown newspapers. For instance his first paragraph (Al Kurdt, executive of the Chamber of Commerce please take note of following) "The time is January, 1800, the place is Kingston, we believe to be located somewhere in New York state. The occasion—the arrival of the little four-page tabloid size newspaper printed by the local store owner, Samuel Freer. And the news—the story of the funeral of George Washington." I would drop a line to Jerry Dewar, columnist of "Ad-Libbing" if I knew from which paper in the United States, and what city it represented. In Kingston, the first capital of New York state, we have the oldest government building in the United States. I think, if any sort of Chamber of Commerce publicity booklet is put out, it should definitely state, "This is the home city of the famous Ulster County Gazette" and give some history on that little astounding paper that is more alive today all over the Union than it was 150 years ago.

Presently of course there is

Says Action

These surpluses are already in government hands through purchases under price support programs.

The President said he will ask Congress to increase the price support funds of the Commodity Credit Corp. from the present ceiling of 6 1/2 billion dollars to 8 1/2 billion.

He said that because of the big build up of surpluses in the hands of the corporation under price supports, more money will be needed. Agriculture department experts have predicted that corporation investments in surpluses may pass six billion dollars by spring.

Under the flexible program, government price guarantees would be high in time of shortages to encourage production, and low in times of surpluses to encourage consumption and discourage over production.

Must Aim at Stability
The President said the present war-born mandatory supports should be permitted to expire at the end of this crop year.

"A farm program," he said, "first of all should assist agriculture to earn its proportionate share of the national income. It must likewise aim at stability in farm income. There should therefore be no wide year to year fluctuation in the level of price support."

He said too that "a farm program must fairly represent the interests of both producers and consumers."

The government supports prices of farm products by stepping into the market and buying whenever the price drops to the support level, or by making loans to farmers at the support level.

The farmer's crop is security for the loan. If prices go down, he can elect not to pay the loan, leaving the crop to the government. If prices go up, he can pay off the loan, take back his crop and sell it.

Under the President's program, price props on major crops would vary between 75 and 90 per cent of parity. Parity is a standard for measuring farm prices, declared by law to be fair to farmers in relation to prices they pay.

The President said adjustment to a new farm program must be accomplished gradually in the interest of farmers and in the interest of the economy of the nation as a whole.

Wool Program Changes
As to specific crops, the program outlined today offered little that was new, except in the case of wool. For this commodity, the President suggested the use of production payments as a method of assuring producers fair income.

Such payments were a feature of the controversial farm program advanced in 1949 by President Truman's then secretary of agriculture, Charles F. Brannan, but never accepted by Congress.

The idea is that prices of domestically produced wool would be permitted to seek their level in the market, competing with other fibers and with imported wool.

The government would make direct payments from the treasury to domestic producers in order that these payments, when added to the average market price for the season, would raise the average return per pound to 90 per cent of parity.

No Changes Sought
For such commodities as meat animals, dairy products, poultry and eggs, tobacco, soy beans, cottonseed, flax, fruits and vegetables, and sugar, the President proposed no changes from present programs.

The flexible price support plan, under which price guarantees would move up or down with changes in supplies, would be applied to wheat, cotton, rice, corn, and peanuts.

In urging flexible supports for cotton and wheat, the President said the major problem is to develop a program which will help farmers gain foreign buyers. He said present high rigid supports stimulate competition by foreign producers and reduce U. S. exports.

Has 'Modernized' Formula
Eisenhower recommended that a "modernized" formula for determining parity prices, as written into the 1948-49 farm act, be allowed to go into effect Jan. 1, 1956, for commodities not now under it. Those commodities are wheat, corn, cotton and peanuts.

The "modern" parity price for these products would be lower than prices determined by the old formula. The President suggested, however, that the shift from the old to the new parity be carried out gradually. He said this should be done in steps of five percentage points of the old parity per year until the change has been accomplished.

Calls Part Essential

Eisenhower said that removal of the threat of price depression due to huge surpluses—which now total nearly 5 billion dollars—is an essential part of his program.

"Destruction of surplus commodities cannot be countenanced under any circumstances," he said.

"They can be insulated from the commercial markets and used in constructive ways."

"Such uses will include school lunch programs, disaster relief, aid to the people of other countries, and stock-piled reserves at home for use in war or national emergency."

Eisenhower said Congress should continue present authority permitting the use of farm surpluses to help friendly foreign countries and for overseas disaster relief.

He said that in an effort to broaden foreign markets the government soon will send a series of trade missions to Europe, Asia, and South America to explore the immediate possibilities of expanding international trade in food and cotton. He added:

"Moreover, the secretary of agriculture, in cooperation with the secretary of state, is organizing discussions for the exchange of views with foreign ministers of agriculture on subjects affecting the use of agricultural surpluses and stockpiles."

The President said agriculture will face a problem of what to do with land diverted from crops because of production control programs.

He suggested that subsidy payments made to farmers for carrying out soil and water conservation practices should be used to help keep such diverted land from going into other crops.

Eisenhower said he is convinced that the combination of freezing surpluses, using flexible price supports, and the use of methods to expand markets would provide "a firm floor on which our farmers can rely while making long-term plans for efficient production and marketing." He predicted:

"It will help the farmer attain full parity in the market. It will avoid creating burdensome surpluses. It will curtail the regimentation of production planning, lessen the problem of diverted acreage, and yield farmers greater freedom of choice and action."

In his discussion of welfare funds, the President noted that the law now bars an employer from making payments to a union to help finance such funds unless the fund meets certain standards.

But Eisenhower said "these standards are not adequate to protect and conserve these funds that are held in trust for the welfare of individual union members."

Prompt Enactment Sought
In his 2500-word message the President expressed his hope that the changes he suggested "will be enacted by Congress promptly, for they will more firmly establish the basic principles of the law."

Eisenhower said: "Government should continue to search diligently for sound measures to improve the lot of the working men and women, mindful that conditions and standards of employment change as the products, habits and needs of men and women change."

"It will be continually a challenge to government to sense the inspirations of the working people of our country, that all may have the opportunity to fairly share in the results of the productive genius of our time, from which comes the material blessings of the present and a greater promise for the future."

Fear Halts With Appearance of Man Thought Dead

Philip Richards, whose cottage on the Creek Locks-Eddyville road was destroyed by a fire early Saturday morning, returned safely from New York Saturday night, ending whatever fear may have existed that he might have been burned to death.

Richards was given temporary quarters with Mr. and Mrs. Josef Knubben, who operate a summer resort across the road from the burned out cottage.

Positive Proof Lacking
Members of the Bloomington Fire Department had been told that Richards purchased a bus ticket for New York and had intended leaving Friday morning for that city. But with no positive means of knowing whether he had actually left, firemen were unwilling to state for a certainty that he had not been trapped in the burning building, until he made an appearance Saturday night. The cottage was already demolished when firemen arrived at the scene.

Proof Positive
The wife of Charles the Fat proved her innocence to him by passing unharmed through a fire, while clothed in a waxed garment, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

But Eisenhower said "these standards are not adequate to protect and conserve these funds that are held in trust for the welfare of individual union members."

Prompt Enactment Sought
In his 2500-word message the President expressed his hope that the changes he suggested "will be enacted by Congress promptly, for they will more firmly establish the basic principles of the law."

Eisenhower said:
"Government should continue to search diligently for sound measures to improve the lot of the working men and women, mindful that conditions and standards of employment change as the products, habits and needs of men and women change."

"It will be continually a challenge to government to sense the inspirations of the working people of our country, that all may have the opportunity to fairly share in the results of the productive genius of our time, from which comes the material blessings of the present and a greater promise for the future."

Children Die in Fire
New York, Jan. 11 (AP)—Two children died today in a Brooklyn apartment fire which police said was caused by an oil stove explosion. The victims were identified as Louise Evans, 10, and Raleigh Evans, 8. The blaze occurred on the second floor of a three-story frame building. Other tenants were evacuated safely to the street.

Willie Oakes' wife says she's beginning to wonder if they took their winter vacation away from beaches where there are a lot of scant women's bathing suits, whether Willie would find it necessary to have his eyes tested and get stronger glasses every year.

Fear Halts With Appearance of Man Thought Dead

Philip Richards, whose cottage on the Creek Locks-Eddyville road was destroyed by a fire early Saturday morning, returned safely from New York Saturday night, ending whatever fear may have existed that he might have been burned to death.

Richards was given temporary quarters with Mr. and Mrs. Josef Knubben, who operate a summer resort across the road from the burned out cottage.

Positive Proof Lacking
Members of the Bloomington Fire Department had been told that Richards purchased a bus ticket for New York and had intended leaving Friday morning for that city. But with no positive means of knowing whether he had actually left, firemen were unwilling to state for a certainty that he had not been trapped in the burning building, until he made an appearance Saturday night. The cottage was already demolished when firemen arrived at the scene

In response to an alarm at 4:35 a. m. Saturday.

Mrs. Knubben reported today that Richards came back from New York, arriving at 10 p. m. Saturday, and has been residing with the Knubbens since his return.

Richards told Mrs. Knubben that when he arrived here, he started up the walk to his cottage and had even taken the key out of his pocket to unlock the front door. When he saw no cottage, he at first believed he was in the wrong place, but then saw the ruins and realized that his cottage had been destroyed.

Saved Nearby Home
Bloomington firemen reported that Richards rented the cottage, which was owned by Miss Catherine Porter, who is in Florida. Firemen were unable to save the cottage because of the headway gained by the fire, but stood by to protect the larger home of Miss Porter about 100 feet away.

Proof Positive
The wife of Charles the Fat proved her innocence to him by passing unharmed through a fire, while clothed in a waxed garment, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

New Machine Planned

Washington, Jan. 11 (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission searching for still more power out of the heart of the atom, plans a "smashing machine" 10 times more powerful than any now in operation. AEC said Saturday the structure, about half a mile around, will be built at Brookhaven National Laboratory, Upton, Long Island. Its principal component will be a huge circular magnet. The 20-million-dollar installation will take about six years to build. It is designed to speed up sub-atomic "bullets" nearly to the velocity of light and beam them at atomic nuclei.

Politics and Romance Combine in Comedy, Affairs of State

Happenings behind the political scene in Washington will be presented by the Coach House Players with a light touch in the comedy, Affairs of State, by Louis Verneuil. This play, in which romance and politics mix for a pleasant three acts, will be given Wednesday and Thursday at 8:30 p. m. at the George Washington School.

Featuring Joan Hansen in the role of Irene, made famous by Celeste Holm, the cast includes Eve Wulff as Constance Russell, Roy Wulff as Philip Russell, Bernard Pine as George Henderson, Wayne Archibald as Byron Winkler, and Dennis Brady as Lawrence.

Directed by Houston Richards of Woodstock, the play discusses the problems of senators, promotions, and helpful wives. Howard Barnes, in a review in the New York Herald Tribune, said of the play, "Louis Verneuil displays a remarkable command of American wit and idiom in Affairs of State. Writing his first play in English, the noted French author has fashioned a sprightly, topical comedy."

Tickets for the performance are now on sale at London's and Flanagan's, and will also be sold at the door.

Fashion Preview Has Narrow Silhouette, Lightweight Fabrics

By DOROTHY ROE (AP Women's Editor)

New York, Jan. 11 (AP)—The new look in spring fashions is slim, silken and feminine.

This was evident today as New York designers opened a crowded week of spring fashion showings for some 150 visiting fashion editors, revealing what U. S. women will wear in the Easter parade.

Year-round, weather-wise fashions are the big news of the new collections, designed for wear in almost any season. The new lightweight silk suits and coats will do duty all through the summer, some going on into winter beneath fur coats.

Having discovered in past seasons that the weather is likely to jump straight from winter into summer, designers are showing low-necked, short-sleeved suits, coats and dresses of featherweight fabrics. The dress-and-jacket ensemble in fur-trimmed silk print is one of the important styles of the season, as is the silk tweed and the dark silk fitted coat.

High Waisted Look

The narrow silhouette is almost universal in daytime clothes, shown in empire sheaths and high-waisted suits. The line through the midriff is skin-tight and will permit no concealing drapery to hide excess ponderage. So we may expect a new wave of dieting just before Easter.

Designers achieve the high-waisted look in many ways. Some suits have skirts which reach to just below the bust, to meet a fitted jacket which ends at this point. Some coats are belted just below the bust, or have half-belts just below the shoulder-blades in back. There are dresses which are seamed or tucked from bust to natural waistline to achieve the moulded midriff look, and suits which employ a wide crushed cummerbund for the same effect.

Smooth, ladylike styles are the order of the season, in luxurious fabrics and sophisticated cut. New suits do tricks, displaying such innovations as peekaboo jewels half hidden by a slot or pocket flap, handkerchief pockets in the elbow, button-in vests or collars of linen or pique, stick-pin flowers stuck in a pocket.

Instead of the usual, one designer shows filmy crisp organza stoles for wear with suits, coats and dresses. Sheer lace-trimmed linen collars and handkerchiefs with tweed suits are another whimsy of the same house.

Skirts One Inch Shorter

There's a softly feminine touch even to the most tailored costumes, which have smoothly rounded lines above the belt, petal lapels, open necklines, dressmaker detail in rounded pockets, jewel trimmings and accessories.

Expert workmanship reaches a new high in this season's ready-made fashions, which have the feminine shape built-in, through skillful cut and carefully moulded inner construction. This year a dress retains its shape even when hanging in the closet.

Skirts are on the average one inch shorter than those of last season, though the difference is imperceptible in many collections. The short-lived threat of knee-length skirts is past, and the usual length is once again the most becoming line for most women.

Fabrics make headlines in the new fashions, with silks that look like wool, wools that look like silk and cottons that look like both. Satiny smooth, chiffon weight suitings of silk and wool or mohair blends are tops in spring importance.

Colors are subtly grayed in silvery tones of navy, gray, beige and charcoal for many suits and coats, go into pale pastels in the popular jewel-trimmed fleece coats.

The black or navy fitted silk coat is a top favorite of the season, as is the silk suit, either in dark solid colors or in subtle prints.

Hats are small, flat and worn forward, shoes are fragile and air-conditioned, jewelry is splashy and gloves are important with short-sleeved fashions.

Adventures in Africa Is Topic of Speaker For Dinner Club

REBECCA REYHER

The spotlight of world attention is focused more and more these days on the Dark Continent of Africa. One of the few modern women to be able to shed light on the murky situation that plagues modern Africa is Rebecca Reyher, author of two widely read books on the persistent African practice of polygamy.

Mrs. Reyher comes to the Kingston National Dinner Club Wednesday, at 6:30 p. m. in the Gov. Clinton Hotel to speak on the subject, Adventures in Africa.

Familiar with Africa from Capetown to Cairo, Mrs. Reyher has visited the continent four times in the past 25 years, and has spent a total of three and a half years there. She lived for more than two years in South Africa, stayed at remote mission stations, lived in the bush among primitive tribes, and in the cities and rural areas of many of the African countries and colonies.

She refuted a UN claim that the Fong of Laakom and his multiple wives lived in a state of polygamous bliss. Finding that the wives, far from being contented had actually run away, she spent time with them to get a vivid picture of their experiences. To the Fong's way of thinking, Mrs. Reyher's visit was so enjoyable that the chieftain actually offered to add her to his list of wives, an unusual proposal which she politely but firmly refused.

The results of her investigation are in the book, The Fong and His Hundred Wives. An earlier success, Zulu Woman, told of the tragic plight of the wife of a Zulu king.

A dark-haired, brown-eyed woman of quick compassion and quiet charm, Rebecca Reyher is a native of New York, brought up in Washington, D. C., and educated at schools in the nation's capital. She studied at Columbia University and the University of Chicago, majoring in sociology and literature.

New memberships for the series including Mrs. Reyher's talk are now being accepted by the Kingston National Dinner Club, by Warren Smith, secretary. These will entitle holders to the remaining four programs on the schedule, with Gerhard H. Segar as the next speaker for February 3, on the topic, What's Ahead in Germany.

ENCOURAGE NEW FRIENDSHIPS

A very distressing problem is described in this letter: "A young woman I know lost her husband about six months ago. His death was very sudden and she was quite broken up over it. Having no family to turn to, I told her that whenever she felt like getting out of the house, she could come over to my house so as not to be alone. I was only too glad to help her over this very trying period, but now after six months she still continues to come in almost every night of the week. My husband, who was very sympathetic in the beginning, is getting tired of this intrusion on our privacy and 'takes it out on me.' She is a very nice person and is always buying presents for our little boy and I can't bear to hurt her, but if I don't do something I'm afraid I will drive my husband out of the house. Can you help me?"

This is a very difficult problem to solve. The only solution I can think of lies in the hope that you have a number of friends who, like herself, are possibly alone and would be very glad to be friends with her. If you ask them one at a time with her, you could perhaps encourage their friendship.

A Clothes Question

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband and I have received an invitation to a semi-public dinner which stipulates "tuxedo preferred." My husband has one but I have no evening dress. My only special-occasion dresses are of the formal afternoon type. Will this be proper, or must I buy an evening dress?

Answer: With a tuxedo, your afternoon dress is entirely suitable. If your husband was wearing tails, then an evening dress would be required.

Concerning the Wedding Guests

Dear Mrs. Post: It is necessary for the bride's family to provide transportation for those wedding guests who have no cars, from the church to the place of the reception?

Answer: They are obliged only to provide transportation for those in the wedding party. If they can arrange transportation for any of the wedding guests, so much the better, but it is not a requirement.

You will find Mrs. Post's booklet No. 501, "Etiquette of Weddings," will help you with your wedding plans including the invitations, ceremony, reception and bridal clothes. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. To obtain a copy, send 25 cents in cash to Dept. EP, c/o The Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Fashion Preview Has Narrow Silhouette, Lightweight Fabrics

By DOROTHY ROE
(AP Women's Editor)

New York, Jan. 11 (AP)—The new look in spring fashions is slim, silken and feminine.

This was evident today as New York designers opened a crowded week of spring fashion showings for some 150 visiting fashion editors, revealing what U. S. women will wear in the Easter parade.

Year-round, weather-wise fashions are the big news of the new collections, designed for wear in almost any season. The new lightweight silk suits and coats will do duty all through the summer, some going on into winter beneath fur coats.

Having discovered in past seasons that the weather is likely to jump straight from winter into summer, designers are showing low-necked, short-sleeved suits, coats and dresses of featherweight fabrics. The dress-and-jacket ensemble in fur-trimmed silk print is one of the important styles of the season, as is the silk tweed and the dark silk fitted coat.

High Waisted Look

The narrow silhouette is almost universal in daytime clothes, shown in empire sheaths and high-waisted suits. The line through the midriff is skin-tight and will permit no concealing drapery to hide excess poundage. So we may expect a new wave of dieting just before the season.

Designers achieve the high-waisted look in many ways. Some suits have skirts which reach to just below the bust, to meet a fitted jacket which ends at this point.
Some coats are belted just below the bust, or have half-belts just below the shoulder-blades in back.
There are dresses which are seamed or tucked from bust to natural waistline to achieve the moulded midriff look, and suits which employ a wide crushed cummerbund for the same effect.

Smooth, ladylike styles are the order of the season, in luxurious fabrics and sophisticated cut.

New suits do tricks, displaying such peckaboo jewelry half hidden by a slot or pocket flap, handkerchief pockets in the elbow, button-in vests or collars of linen or pique, stick-pin flowers stuck in a pocket.

Instead of summer furs, one designer shows filmy crisp organza stoles for wear with suits, coats and dresses. Sheer, trimmed linen collars and handkerchiefs with tweed suits are another whimsy of the same house.

Skirts One Inch Shorter

There's a softly feminine touch even to the most tailored costumes, which have smoothly rounded lines above the belt, petal lapels, open necklines, dressmaker detail in rounded pockets, jewel trimmings and accessories.

Expert workmanship reaches a new high in this season's ready-made fashions, which have the feminine shape built-in, through skillful cut and carefully moulded inner construction. This year a dress retains its shape even when hanging in the closet.

Skirts are on the average one inch shorter than those of last season, though the difference is imperceptible in many collections.
The short-lived threat of knee-length skirts is past, and the usual length is mid-calf, the most becoming line for most women.

Fabrics make headlines in the new fashions, with silks that look like wool, wools that look like silk, and cottons that look like both. Satiny smooth, chiffon weight suitings of silk and wool or mohair blends are tops in spring importance.

Colors are subtly grayed in silvery tones of navy, gray, beige and charcoal for many suits and coats, go into pale pastels in the popular jewel-trimmed fleece coats.

The black or navy fitted silk coat is a top favorite of the season, as is the silk suit, either in dark solid colors or in subtle prints.

Hats are small, flat and worn forward, shoes are fragile and air-conditioned, jewelry is splashy and gloves are important with short-sleeved fashions.

Adventures in Africa Is Topic of Speaker For Dinner Club

REBECCA REYHER

The spotlight of world attention is focused more and more these days on the Dark Continent of Africa. One of the few modern women to be able to shed light on the murky situation that plagues modern Africa is Rebecca Reyher, author of two widely read books on the persistent African practice of polygamy.

Mrs. Reyher comes to the Kingston National Dinner Club
Wednesday, at 6:30 p. m. in the Gov. Clinton Hotel to speak on the subject, Adventures in Africa.

Familiar with Africa from Capetown to Cairo, Mrs. Reyher has visited the continent four times in the past 25 years, and has spent a total of three and a half years there. She lived for more than two years in South Africa, stayed at remote missionary stations, lived in the bush among primitive tribes, and in the cities and rural areas of many of the African countries and colonies.

She refuted a UN claim that the Fon of Laakom and his multiple wives lived in a state of polygamous bliss. Finding that the wives, far from being contented had actually run away, she spent time with them to get a vivid picture of their experiences. To the Fon's way of thinking, Mrs. Reyher's visit was so enjoyable that the chief actually offered to add her to his list of wives, an unusual proposal which she politely but firmly refused.

The results of her investigation are in the book, The Fon and His Hundred Wives. An earlier success, Zulu Woman, told of the tragic plight of the wife of a Zulu king.

A dark-haired, brown-eyed woman of quick compassion and quiet charm, Rebecca Reyher is a native of New York, brought up in Washington, D. C., and educated at schools in the nation's capital.
She studied at Columbia University and the University of Chicago, majoring in sociology and literature.

New memberships for the series including Mrs. Reyher's talk are now being accepted by the Kingston National Dinner Club, by Warren Smith, secretary. These will entitle holders to the remaining four programs on the schedule, with Gerhart H. Segar as the next speaker for February 3, on the topic, What's Ahead in Germany.

Charleston, W. Va. (AP)—James Jones, 35, considers himself a the wheel of his car, ramming the rear of a tractor-trailer, and being treated for an injured knee at the hospital. The truck he hit was carrying dynamite.

Good Taste Today

(Author of Etiquette Children Are People, etc.)

ENCOURAGE NEW FRIENDSHIPS

A very distressing problem is described in this letter: "A young woman I know lost her husband about six months ago. His death was very sudden and she was quite broken up over it. Having no family to turn to, I told her that whenever she felt like getting out of the house, she could come over to my house so as not to be alone. I was only too glad to help her over this very trying period, but now after six months she still continues to come in almost every night of the week.
My husband, who was very sympathetic in the beginning, is getting tired of this intrusion on our privacy and 'takes it out on me.'
She is a very nice person and is always buying presents for our little boy and I can't bear to hurt her, but if I don't do something I'm afraid I will drive my husband out of the house. Can you help me?"

This is a very difficult problem to solve. The only solution I can think of lies in the hope that you have a number of friends who, like herself, are possibly alone and would be very glad to be friends with her. If you ask them one at a time with her, you could perhaps encourage their friendship.

A Clothes Question

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband and I have received an invitation to a semi-public dinner, which stipulates "tuxedo preferred." My husband has one but I have no evening dress. My only specialoccasion dresses are of the formal afternoon type. Will this be proper, or must I buy an evening dress?

Answer: With a tuxedo, your afternoon dress is entirely suitable. If your husband wears wearing tails, then an evening dress would be required.

Concerning the Wedding Guests

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it necessary for the bride's family to provide transportation for those wedding guests who have no cars, from the church to the place of the reception?

Answer: They are obliged only to provide transportation for those in the wedding party. If they can arrange transportation for any of the wedding guests, so much the better, but it is not a requirement.

You will find Mrs. Post's booklet No. 501, "Etiquette of Weddings," will help you with your wedding plans, including the invitations, ceremony, reception and bridal clothes. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail.

LESSON IN THRIFT

Riverside Drive Park in New York City is filled with industrious, thrifty, and discerning gray squirrels.

The old ones are as tame as kittens. The young ones, not yet certain of the friendliness of park visitors, are more eager and often skeptical of the intentions of those people who would feed them.

Today I bought a bag of peanuts and went forth to have another delightful holiday with these beautiful animals. There is nothing I enjoy more in nature than the feeding of these squirrels. Each has a distinct personality. Like football players, some are tall and rangy, some short and squat, some big and husky. Some are shy and timid; others are bold and inquisitive.

But all of them are industrious, thrifty and discerning. This afternoon, I seated myself on a park bench and opened the big bag of peanuts. One squirrel appeared, then another and another. They sensed that their time of gathering had arrived and they were bristling with desire to do so. As each squirrel grabbed a peanut from my hand, he gave it a quick and thorough examination. If it was cracked or the shell was in any way damaged, he rejected it for winter storage and ran away and ate it in a hurry. But every peanut in good condition was hustled away into hiding for the long days ahead when stormy days will make such pleasant feeding impossible.

What lessons in thrift and saving gray squirrels can teach millions of Americans! These animals can say to us:

"Some of the products of our daily work should be immediately consumed to keep us going and to prevent waste. Other products should be stored away in safe places, against the time when gathering is out of question."

You parents have eager, growing children. At the first opportunity in 1954, open a savings account for each of the youngsters. Let each boy and girl take possession of the bank book. If your child has an allowance, encourage him to save a portion of it and deposit it in his account. Or, better still, if your youngster earns money by his own efforts, talk frequently with him about the significance of working, saving and depositing.

Two weeks ago, in this column, I mentioned Charles E. Wilson, director of defense of our government. At 18, he was graduated with the degree of Electrical Engineer from the Carnegie Institute of Technology, completing the four-year course in three years. He got 18 cents an hour in his first job after graduation. He became America's greatest contemporary industrialist. He is an apostle of thrift, saving and investment.

You young people in your 20's can learn a lesson from the squirrels. Upon landing your first job, begin to save. Put aside, from the very beginning, at least 10 per cent of your gross earnings. Buy an insurance policy with half of these savings and bank the rest. Workers and executives in their 30's and 40's should critically examine their spending and saving policies at least once a year. Many persons able to save $20 a week at least, from the ages of 35 to 60, do not. As a result, they come to 65 haunted by fears of economic privation or destitution, just at the time when their storage house should come to their aid.

Every reader of these lines who is or has been careless about thrift and saving may emulate a discerning squirrel. The next time a day comes around take a good, long look at that money. Put some of it into daily living expenses and with the rest start a long-range rainy-day fund.

Common stocks fit perfectly into such a fund. I hope that in 1959—five years from now—somebody will write me: "In 1954, after I read your January article, I started saving $20 a week and with those savings I bought shares systematically and regularly of Du Pont, Eastman Kodak, General Motors and Standard Oil of New Jersey. Saving and investing have become an important part of my economic life. You got me started on it."

Yes, the Riverside Drive gray squirrels can teach significant lessons.

(Q) "Why don't you ever mention real estate as an investment?"

(A) Because each property must be carefully examined in its locale. Its social, economic and even political foundations must be investigated. The values discussed here must have national markets and be subject to the analysis of periodically issued financial reports. However, good real estate is a sound investment.

Harry C. France will answer one letter each week through this column. If you have any investment questions, write in care of this newspaper.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Discard Turns Out As Key Game Play

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

The most beautiful hand of the Winter National Tournament recently conducted in Dallas by the American Contract Bridge League, was played by John R. Crawford, of Philadelphia, in the open team event, which his team won.

West decided to open the unbid suit, so led the six of clubs. Dummy played low. East put up the queen and Crawford won in his hand with the king. Crawford next led the queen of spades from his hand, and let it ride for a finesse.

East won with his singleton king of spades and returned a club, since he was quite pleased with that suit. West was allowed to hold the second round of clubs with his jack, and he promptly led the suit again, forcing out dummy's ace.

On the third round of clubs Crawford had to discard. He casually discarded the ten of hearts, which eventually turned out to be a key play.

Johnny planned to take another spade finesse eventually, and hoped to discard another heart on one of dummy's spades. It didn't matter much whether he discarded the ten (or nine) of hearts now or later, and he hoped it would confuse his opponents.

After winning the third round of clubs in dummy with the ace, Crawford led the jack of diamonds, and West properly discarded a low spade. This was a bitter blow, since declarer had been hoping for a 3-3 diamond break.

Declarer continued with the ten of diamonds, and West had to discard a heart, since he couldn't spare another spade.

Rather naturally, West discarded the six of hearts.

Crawford's next finessed dummy's nine of spades, and East discarded a diamond. Apparently declarer was in dummy for the last time, but he didn't have a heart and ducked the nine around to West's queen.

West tried to get out by returning the king of hearts to Crawford's ace, but Crawford then returned the seven of hearts, which forced West to win the trick. West then had to lead a spade, allowing dummy to win the last two tricks (Crawford's eighth and ninth tricks) by a finesse.

If Crawford had kept the ten of hearts (instead of the seven), or if West had discarded the eight of hearts, Crawford would have been forced to win the third heart trick. And then he would be stuck in his hand and forced to lose the last two tricks to East.

No Room for Santa?

By FRANK TRIPP

Meddling in this topic involves a mite of courage, but "fools rush in—" and so forth. It is a report of a debate which of necessity had a religious angle—and a tinge of dynamite.

Just before Christmas a good-pastor in Maryland made news by banning Santa Claus from his school: exposed the old fellow to his children, aiming, he said, to "put Christ back into Christmas."

No more noble objective could be imagined. But people will disagree on the method, for Santa Claus has friends no end.

In spite of his popularity, Santa would stand no chance to the exclusion of Jesus. Thus difference of opinion of the pastor's act are likely to hinge upon what Christ would think of Santa if on earth today; which leaves room for the guess of the most humble among us.

On one point, all who know the story of Jesus will agree, whether or not His followers: that selfishness or jealousy nowhere enter His life or teachings.

THIS WAS the thought of the little group who were discussing the ban of Santa. "I see the evangelist's point," said the first, "and I don't think Jesus would be jealous of Santa. It seems fantastic to imagine Santa Claus in competition with Jesus Christ."

"What made you think of that?" asked another.

"Isn't that the idea?" Christmas is Christ's birthday and St. Nick has crashed it, stealing the show," was the answer.

"I think the padre had something else in mind," injected the third. "The commercialization of Christmas."

"Then what about Easter?" was the comeback.

THE CONVERSATION then swung to the tragedy that both days, deeply sacred to millions, have come to mean only lavishness, mundane glamour—and clothes—to so many.

"Even so," said one, "why pick on Santa Claus? He's no more to blame for what's happened to Christmas than are rabbits to blame for Easter's parade of finery by those who otherwise ignore that holy day."

That vanked out the thought that made this a column. A listener up to now said, "I think these incongruous practices have a useful purpose. They create consciousness of a Supreme Being among people of every faith. They are, in a way, symbols of faith, which rouse even Christians who otherwise would pass both religious anniversaries in even deeper irreverence."

THEN THE GUY who started it all asked me: "Speaking of Santa Claus and rabbits, didn't you once write a column about the Fourth of July and fireworks? You said, if I remember, that taking fireworks out of the Fourth was like taking Santa Claus out of Christmas."

That column was written after confronting a dozen kids who never fired a firecracker. Ten of the twelve either didn't know at all or had only a faint conception of the meaning of the Fourth of July.

THE CONSENSUS, without formal vote, was that enthusiasm is a prerequisite to acceptance and understanding; that gadgets such as fireworks, Easter bunnies and Santa Claus cause the way to selling the significance of the three anniversaries most vital to Christian America's future.

The boys had a nightmare on the note that there's room for Santa Claus on Christmas, and if Jesus were here, He and Santa would be pals.

The nation has suffered the youthful apathy of the fireworks ban. Let's not do that to Christ's birthday.

Kingston Meets Poughkeepsie Tuesday in DUSO's First Showdown

Winner Likely To Advance to DUSO Pennant

Statistics Heavily In Favor of Blues

The DUSO League basketball championship will be on the line Tuesday night when a capacity crowd of 1500 is expected to converge on Kate Walton Field House to watch the unbeaten fives of Kingston and Poughkeepsie tangle in the DUSO's first major showdown of the season.

Each team has won four games but the Blues have a topheavy margin over Coach G. Warren Kias' Maroons in scoring average and defensive statistics.

Kingston has had to struggle for a couple of its victories while Sam Kalloch's giants—led by Gary Mendez and Bob Dahowski—have yet to be really tested.

Mendez, a 6-foot, 4-inch foot-ball ace, is averaging close to 30 points and Dahowski is hitting better than 25.

The giant Mendez offers a real challenge to Kingston's Dick Bezemmer who picked up four fouls early against Middletown and watched the opposing center, Bill Williams, run wild in the second half.

Victory Bakery Presses Angels in 'A' League, 87-94

YMCA Managers Vote Rule Change To Boster Bakery

Managers of the YMCA "A" basketball league amended their constitution over the weekend to permit the Victory Bakery team to add five "B" League players to their roster for the remainder of the season.

These players will also play with their regular "B" teams so that there will be no loss in personnel to any of the teams. The five players selected for double duty were Bob Kozlowski and Phil McCloskey, Rapp's Express; Vince Van Bramer, Village Rest; Don Smith of the 50 Club and Huyler Van Wageningen of Back's Cedaraps.

Since Van Bramer was at the "Y" Saturday night he was immediately allowed to play for Victory Bakery following the meeting of the managers.

SPORTS

By Charles J. Tiano Sports Editor

Having set an all-time Hudson Valley record with 3414 under another sponsorship, the current Jones Dairy squad of the Hudson Valley League reached another milestone last week.

They moved into the 1000-average team bracket for the first time in HVBL history. With Johnny Ferraro back in high gear, the Dairy team had a good chance of maintaining their 1000 pace for the remainder of the season. That would be a historic tenpin achievement.

Two old pros—Randy Kelder and Rose Schatzel—dominated the tenpin weeks last week. Kelder cracked a 681 series and The Queen was one-two in the distaff ratings with 580 and 579.

George Shufeldt hit the jackpot twice with 657 and 645. A trio of newcomers to the Big Ten were James Kennedy of the Hercules wheel with 657, good for the No. 2 spot, Bill Smith and Ralph Woolsey with 628s.

Winners Lead By Two Points In Last Minute

East's Clutch Work Decides Contest

Victory Bakery's "new look" threw a big scare into Harry's Angels before dropping the Saturday night YMCA "A" league feature, 87-94.

Vince Peck set a new season's scoring record of 34 points for the losers who trailed by only two points with 1:30 left in the game.

In the companion piece, Valley Gardens' deliberate passing game and outside shooting triumphed over Lincoln Park Inn, 60-51.

With a new player in the lineup—Vince Van Bramer—as the result of manager's action Saturday, the hitherto hapless Bakers held the Angels to a 43-43 deadlock at the half.

With 1:30 remaining the Angels led by only two points when the Bills—Klein and East—collaborated for a five-point spree that took the Angels out of danger.

East had come to the game as a spectator because of a back injury but when the half ended in a tie, Manager Ward Dunham of the Angels pressed East into action. He was definitely a big factor in the Angels' victory with 13 points in the last quarter and standout work in the rebound department.

Valley Gardens led Lincoln Park 36-29 at half time, lost all but two points of their lead in the third period but rallied for a 16-9 bulge in the stretch.

Peck hit his record 34 points with 17 baskets. Tom Morrissey also excelled with 25 points and Paul Smith tallied 13. Bill Klein's 24 points paced the Angels, with Dunham 16 and East 13.

Cliff Schoonmaker led the Gardens with 19, Chick Meehan fired 16, Bryon Lawrence 13 and Percy Greene 11. Top man for Lincolns was Jay Rider with 15. Don Madison scored 14 and Bill Tierney had 11.

Molinas' Suspension by Pistons First Hint of Scandal in NBA

Fort Wayne, Ind., Jan. 11 (P)—Jack Molinas, who had a good chance of being named the National Basketball Assn.'s "Rookie of the Year," instead appeared a near certainty today to be the first player expelled from the league for betting on NBA games.

The Fort Wayne Piston forward, former Columbia University star, was in the position of trading his career and a salary of $9,600 a season for about $400 in gambling profits.

The NBA, which escaped being involved directly in the college basketball bribery scandals of the last three seasons, yesterday suspended Molinas indefinitely.

President Maurice Podoloff left little doubt that the 6-foot-6 Molinas is finished in pro basketball. The 21-year-old player is entitled to a hearing before being expelled automatically at the end of the season. But Podoloff said he doubted that Molinas will ask for one.

The tall youth told the Associated Press he had bet only on his team to win.

"I've never done anything dishonest in my life," Molinas exclaimed, almost in tears.

Podoloff said in New York that Molinas offered to play without pay if the league would give him a chance to redeem himself. The NBA president turned him down.

• Bronx Man Questioned
Several hours after Molinas' suspension, Deputy Chief Inspector Edward W. Byrnes in New York said that a Bronx candy store operator had been questioned in connection with the incident.

Byrnes, in charge of Bronx detectives, identified the man as Isidore Ratenski, about 54, who operates a store at 154 East 188th street, the Bronx. Byrnes said the man had been released after being questioned for 1½ hours but he was told to report for further questioning today.

New York newspapers last night reported that bookmakers had stopped taking bets on Fort Wayne games after the Pistons' game with Boston Dec. 15. Odds favoring Boston jumped sharply just before the game, it was reported. Boston won 82-75, with Molinas scoring 20 points, 18 of them in the first half.

Podoloff also said Molinas reported he gained about $400 including refunds of telephone calls.

The NBA banned Alex Groza and Ralph Beard of the now defunct Indianapolis Olympians after they were charged in the New York bribery scandals but the case involved only games they had played while University of Kentucky students.

The 1948 U. S. Olympic stars denied any connection with gamblers after they turned pro.

Molinas' case is the first involving an NBA player, for activities as such, in the league's eight seasons.

• Canadiens Can't Win Road Games
(By The Associated Press)
The Montreal Canadiens, almost unbeatable at home, will have to come up with a winning formula for their road games if they expect to end Detroit's five year reign as National Hockey League champions.

The Canucks dropped another "away" tilt last night, bowing to the Red Wings 2-1 and dropping into second place, a point behind the winners.

The loss was Montreal's 13th on enemy ice. They've won four and tied as many. At home, their record is spectacular 19-1-1. Only as recently as Saturday night, they blasted Chicago 12-1 at Montreal's forum.

In other games, the Boston Bruins downed the Chicago Black Hawks 5-3 and the New York Rangers defeated the Toronto Maple Leafs 4-1.

Wally Hergesheimer drilled home his 15th and 16th goals in the first period as the Rangers extended their winning streak to four games—their longest since 1950. It was New York's first victory over Toronto this season.

Don Raleigh and Nick Mickoski also scored for the Rangers. Sid Smith was the Leafs' only marksman.

J. Hotaling Socks 626

He defeated Tony Vincent, 14 years Mulloy's junior and also from Miami, by 11-9, 8-6, 6-4 yesterday to defend his Dixie title. The latest victory makes Mulloy a five time winner in the Dixie.

Laura Lou Kunnen won the women's singles from Evelyn Cowan of Covington, Ga., 6-0, 6-3.

Kingston Meets Poughkeepsie Tuesday in DUSO's First Showdown

Winner Likely To Advance to DUSO Pennant

Statistics Heavily In Favor of Blues

The DUSO League basketball championship will be on the line Tuesday night when a capacity crowd of 1500 is expected to converge on Kate Walton Field House to watch the unbeaten fives of Kingston and Poughkeepsie tangle in the DUSO's first major showdown of the season.

Each team has won four games but the Blues have a topheavy margin over Coach G. Warren Kias' Maroons in scoring average and defensive statistics.

Kingston has had to struggle for a couple of its victories while Sam Kalloch's giants—led by Gary Mendez and Bob Dahowski—have yet to be really tested.

Mendez, a 6-foot, 4-inch football ace, is averaging close to 30 points and Dahowski is hitting better than 25.

The giant Mendez offers a real challenge to Kingston's Dick Bezemer who picked up four fouls early against Middletown and watched the opposing center, Bill Williams, run wild in the second half.

Bank on Bezemer
A Bezemer at his best is a must for Kingston tomorrow night. Skip Brodhead played a superlative game against Middletown and fans who saw him in action are still raving about his spectacular baskets in the clutch.

Having experimented with several starting combinations, Coach Kias may have to go with his greatest men in order to cope with the altitudinous Blues. The Kiasmen have speed on their side. The Blues appear to have more shooting irons.

It should be a terrific battle and Skip Brodhead and his gang could be on the threshold of their greatest victory. A year ago they shattered Newburgh Academy's 37-game streak at the municipal auditorium.

A win tomorrow night could be just as significant. It could mean the DUSO pennant after four long, lean years of starvation diet.

LLA Speaker

HARRY GRAYSON

Harry Grayson, hard hitting sports editor of the NEA news syndicate, will be the principal speaker at tonight's Little League Association banquet at The Barn.

A sellout crowd of 335 is expected to hear the 35-year veteran of the sports beat in his fourth Kingston appearance.

Passes Versace Of Poughkeepsie

Johnny Ferraro assumed the Hudson Valley Bowling League individual average leadership Saturday with a 692 blast against the Finkes at Ellenville.

The league Dairymen pounded 3003 to outpin their opponents by nearly 300 pins but managed to drop the middle set—967-954. Ferraro lost a "700" set with a wide split in the 30th frame. He rolled singles of 217, 234 and 241 to boost his average to 206.28.

Phil Versace of Poughkeepsie who led Ferraro by five pins going into Saturday's action was idled by bad weather.

Charlie Manfro fired 638 with 224-170-241. Dick Howard had 236 and Harold Broskie 213-211 for Jones Dairy. Timmie Bilyeu paced the Finkes with 178-224-215-617.

Schryver Sweep Three
Schryver Lumber couldn't unlimber its heavy artillery in usual style but managed a three-game sweep over Ellenville Electric in a match devoid of "600" counts.

High man for the Lumberjacks was captain George Shufeldt with 212-592. Larry Peterson hit 204-578 and Whitey Crispell 574. The locals totaled 2804.

Powered by Hammerin' Hank Kemmerer, the Ellenville Shanhans upset Elston Sport, 2-1, on the Bowldome drives, shooting 2900 to 2799 for the locals.

Kemmerer rallied from a 158 opener to five slams of 236 and 235. Frank Greco, a high average contender, powered 237-615 and Sam Cohen shot 222-218-603. Jackie Ferraro's 200-225-192-617 paced Elstons.

Rapp's Express surprised Walden Lewis with a 2-1 upset on the Walden planks, outrolling the home legions, 2703 to 2641.

Mickey Kahrs, the pinboy, was the big gun for Rapp's with 202-211-590. Captain Ken Joseph topped 203-200-582.

Victory Bakery Presses Angels in 'A' League, 87-94

YMCA Managers Vote Rule Change To Boster Bakery

Managers of the YMCA "A" basketball league amended their constitution over the weekend to permit the Victory Bakery team to add five "B" League players to their roster for the remainder of the season.

These players will also play with their regular "B" teams so that there will be no loss in personnel to any of the teams.

The five players selected for double duty were Bob Kozlowski and Phil McCloskey, Rapp's Express; Vince Van Bramer, Village Rest; Don Smith of the 50 Club and Huyler Van Wageningen of Back's Cedaraps.

Since Van Bramer was at the "Y" Saturday night he was immediately allowed to play for the Victory Bakery following the meeting of the managers.

SPORTS

By Charles J. Tiano

Having set an all-time Hudson Valley record with 3414 under another sponsorship, the current Jones Dairy squad of the Hudson Valley League reached another milestone last week.

They moved into the 1000-average team bracket for the first time in HVBL history. With Johnny Ferraro back in high gear, the Dairymen stand a good chance of maintaining their 1000 pace for the remainder of the season. That would be a historic tenpin achievement.

Two old pros—Randy Kelder and Rose Schatzel—dominated the tenpin wheels last week. Kelder cranked a 681 series and The Queen was one-two in the distaff ratings with 580 and 579.

George Shufeldt hit the jackpot twice with 637 and 645. A trio of newcomers to the Big Ten were James Kennedy of the Hercules wheel with 657, good for the No. 2 spot, Bill Smith and Ralph Woolsey with 628s.

• Splits and Misses:
Whitey Crispell lost a wager to Joe Russo that he could roll a bowling ball in the middle of Albany avenue from the Park entrance to the entrance of the Clinton Hotel. This feat was accomplished about 4 a. m. with John Bailey and Buster Ferraro as witnesses. "Whitey just missed," said Russo as he picked up the negotiable. Harold Broskie received a 4:30 a. m. call recently to report to the Bowldome for a "big pot game." He didn't go for the bait, but these cutups are cutups, aren't they? George Baird, the HVBL ace who also rolls in the Ferraro Major, bagged his first 300 last week in a match game against teammate Phil Versace. Johnny Ferraro, only five pins off the HVBL pace, again proves he is the Ben Hogan of area bowling.

He's the man you have to beat every year if you want the coveted individual average crown. Helene Mollenhauer, KWBA secretary, has authored an interesting tenpin poem that will appear in the next edition.

• The Eleventh Frame:
Morris Cramer, former Cohoes sharpshooter now operating in the Windy City Classic at Chicago, was in town for the holidays to wrap up the $300 Ferraro Doubles Sweep with Bill Barrett.

The classic stylist is among the top five bowlers in Chicago with a 198 average. Chicago's famed Classic League rolls 35 weeks in 35 establishments. Each night the league rolls three games across six alleys in WIBC style. Thus in a season a bowler hits 210 different alleys, a superlative test of a man's skill.

The classic league is the Eastern States Classic at Newark Recreation where there are 25 legions averaging 200 or better. Cramer says midwestern bowlers like their alleys extremely "fast" in contrast to the stiff, polished lanes of the East. He had to make over his whole style after a few better experiences. Johnny Ferraro drilled a new ball for him at Christmas and Morrie headed back to Chicago.

Big time bowlers take their practice seriously. Cramer revealed that he, Ned Day, Buddy Bomar and others work out for three hours every morning on the day of Classic bowling. Associated with the old Monarch Beer aggregation, the slim pocket buster helps Bomar in a ball drilling concern with three Chicago outlets.

This final week of registration for the Kingston Bowling Association's 17th annual championships would find Joe Back of entry blanks hitting the mails. Don't forget the deadline, Saturday, Jan. 16, at midnight.

Andrews on TV
New York, Jan. 11 (P)—Al Andrews, the Saginaw, Mich. boxer who twice beat Chuck Davey, makes his New York debut tonight at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway against Joey Klein of New York. The match will be seen on TV (Dumont).

Winners Lead By Two Points In Last Minute

East's Clutch Work Decides Contest

Victory Bakery's "new look" threw a big scare into Harry's Angels before dropping the Saturday night YMCA "A" league feature, 87-94.

Vince Peck set a new season's scoring record of 34 points for the losers who trailed by only two points with 1:30 left in the game.

In the companion piece, Valley Gardens' deliberate passing game and outside shooting triumphed over Lincoln Park Inn, 60-51.

With a new player in the lineup—Vince Van Bramer—as the result of manager's action Saturday, the hitherto hapless Bakers held the Angels to a 43-43 deadlock at the half.

With 1:30 remaining the Angels led by only two points when the two Bills—Kleine and East—collaborated for a five-point spree that took the Angels out of danger.

East in Hero Role

East had come to the game as a spectator because of a back injury but when the half ended in a tie, Manager Ward Dunham of the Angels pressed East into action. He was definitely a big factor in the Angels' victory with 13 points in the last quarter and standout work in the rebound department.

Valley Gardens led Lincoln Park 36-29 at half time, lost all but two points of their lead in the third period but rallied for a 16-9 bulge in the stretch.

Peck hit his record 34 points with 17 baskets. Tom Morrissey also excelled with 25 points and Paul Smith tallied 13. Bill Kleine's 24 points paced the Angels, with Cham Holstein running 20, Ward Dunham 16 and East 13.

Cliff Schoonmaker led the Gardens with 19, Chick Meahan fired 16, Bryon Lawrence 13 and Percy Greene 11. Top man for Lincolns was Jay Rider with 15. Don Madison scored 14 and Bill Tierney had 11.

Canadiens Can't Win Road Games

(By The Associated Press)

The Montreal Canadiens, almost unbeatable at home, will have to come up with a winning formula for their road games if they expect to end Detroit's five year reign as National Hockey League champions.

The Canucks dropped another "away" tilt last night, bowing to the Red Wings 2-1 and dropping into second place, a point behind the winners.

The loss was Montreal's 13th on enemy ice. They've won four and tied as many. At home, their record is spectacular 19-1-1. Only as recently as Saturday night, they blasted Chicago 12-1 at Montreal's forum.

In other games, the Boston Bruins downed the Chicago Black Hawks 5-3 and the New York Rangers defeated the Toronto Maple Leafs 4-1.

Wally Hergesheimer drilled home his 15th and 16th goals in the first period as the Rangers extended their winning streak to four games—their longest since 1950. It was New York's first victory over Toronto this season. Don Raleigh and Nick Mickoski also scored for the Rangers. Sid Smith was the Leafs' only marksman.

Molinas' Suspension by Pistons First Hint of Scandal in NBA

Fort Wayne, Ind., Jan. 11 (P)—Jack Molinas, who had a good chance of being named the National Basketball Assn.'s "Rookie of the Year," instead appeared a near certainty today to be the first player expelled from the league for betting on NBA games.

The Fort Wayne Pistons forward, former Columbia University star, was in the position of trading his career and a salary of $9,600 a season for about $400 in gambling profits.

The NBA, which escaped being involved directly in the college basketball bribery scandals of the last three seasons, yesterday suspended Molinas indefinitely.

President Maurice Podoloff left little doubt that the 6-foot-6 Molinas is finished in pro basketball. The 21-year-old player is entitled to a hearing before being expelled automatically at the end of the season. But Podoloff said he doubted that Molinas will ask for one.

The tall youth told the Associated Press he had bet only on his team to win.

"I've never done anything dishonest in my life," Molinas exclaimed, almost in tears.

Podoloff said in New York that Molinas offered to play without pay if the league would give him a chance to redeem himself. The NBA president turned him down.

Bronx Man Questioned

Several hours after Molinas' suspension, Deputy Chief Inspector Edward W. Byrnes in New York said that a Bronx candy store operator had been questioned in connection with the incident.

Byrnes, in charge of Bronx detectives, identified the man as Isidore Ratenski, about 54, who operates a store at 154 East 188th street, the Bronx. Byrnes said the man had been released after being questioned for 1½ hours but he was told to report for further questioning today.

New York newspapers last night reported that bookmakers had stopped taking bets on Fort Wayne games after the Pistons' game with Boston Dec. 15. Odds favoring Boston jumped sharply just before the game, it was reported. Boston won 82-75, with Molinas scoring 20 points, 18 of them in the first half.

Podoloff also said Molinas reported he gained about $400 including refunds of telephone calls. The NBA banned Alex Groza and Ralph Beard of the now defunct Indianapolis Olympians after they were charged in the New York bribery scandals but the case involved only games they had played while University of Kentucky students.

The 1948 U. S. Olympic stars denied any connection with gamblers after they turned pro. Molinas' case is the first involving an NBA player, for activities as such, in the league's eight seasons.

Gardner Mulloy Wins Dixie Tennis Tourney

Tampa, Fla., Jan. 11 (P)—Gardner Mulloy of Miami, who still plays a stout game of tennis for all his 40 years, is winner of the Dixie tennis tournament again.

He defeated Tony Vincent, 14 years Mulloy's junior and also from Miami, by 11-9, 8-6, 6-4 yesterday to defend his Dixie title. The latest victory makes Mulloy a five time winner in the Dixie.

Laura Lou Kunnen won the women's singles from Evelyn Cowan of Covington, Ga., 6-0, 6-3.

U.S. Ski Team Does't Fear Men of Norway

By ED CORRIGAN

Bear Mountain, Jan. 11 (AP)—When Keith Wegman, Art Devlin and Art Tople leave next week for the world skiing championships in Sweden, they won't be making the trip just for the ride.

The 24-year-old Wegman, an Army private from Camp Hale, Colo., said today he was not the least bit scared of the vaunted Norwegians. No, siree, the Americans have a real good chance of showing every one how it's done.

Now that might come in the form of a surprise, in view of the fact that the American jumpers have been selected for a spot far down on the list by many experts. "I can't understand why everyone knocks us," said the big youngster who won the Franklin D. Roosevelt Memorial trophy here yesterday. "The Norwegians are good, but not that good."

Wegman is not too well-known in the east, but he's no newcomer to the sport. He certainly looked like a champion in beating out Devlin and Mezzy Barber, one of the best skiers this country has produced, in the Roosevelt event.

U. S. Is Outnumbered
"I think we have a fine chance of making a good showing against the Europeans in their own back yard," said Wegman. "The Norwegians are sending eight men to the championships and naturally they have a better chance of winning than we do with three."

"But man for man, we think we are as good as any one. There are two Norwegians who have to watch. One is Armin Bergman, who won the Olympic championship and the other is Torbjorn Falkanger, who won the Holmenkollen three times. The Norwegians rank that as we do the world series."

Wegman has been skiing since he was three years old and his father, the late Al Wegman, a professional instructor, handled most of his training in Steamboat Springs, Colo.

If the Americans do come through, the world may be surprised—but not Wegman.

Charles Regains NBA's No. 1 Rating

Washington, Jan. 11 (AP)—The National Boxing Assn. rates four challengers as outstanding heavyweights, but it couldn't find one logical contender for Rocky Marciano's title.

The NBA's winter ratings advanced former champion Ezzard Charles of Cincinnati to the No. 1 challenger position on the strength of his knockout of Coley Wallace last month. Trailing Charles, in order, were Nino Valdez of Cuba, Dan Bucceroni of Philadelphia and Roland La Starza of New York.

Danny Nardico, the fellow who at one time was reported to be Marciano's next opponent, was rated fifth among the light-heavyweights.

There were no major changes in the NBA ratings announced yesterday. The biggest gain was recorded by Rocky Castellani, the Pennsylvania now fighting out of Ohio, who moved up from sixth to second among the world's middleweights.

The NBA recommended that Castellani get the next crack at the title won last fall by Carl (Bobo) Olson of Hawaii.

Lakers Roll Sans Mikan

(By The Associated Press)

Even with a sub-par George Mikan, the Minneapolis Lakers are rolling toward another Western Division title in the National Basketball Association.

Until this season, the Lakers had been leaning on the elongated frame of Mikan for the bulk of their scoring. Now that Big George isn't hitting with his former regularity, his mates are taking up the slack.

Last night, five Minneapolis players scored in double figures as the Lakers downed the Boston Celtics 99-85 and took a three and one-half game lead over the runner-up Rochester Royals.

In other games, the New York Knickerbockers defeated the Royals 81-69, the Syracuse Nationals whipped the Baltimore Bullets 77-73 and the Fort Wayne Pistons dumped the Milwaukee Hawks 81-73.

Mikan and Jim Pollard each scored 16 points in the Lakers' victory over Boston while Jim Holstein had 14 and Slater Martin and Pep Saul contributed 13 apiece. Minneapolis moved to a 51-37 halftime edge and was never headed.

The Knickerbockers, who extended their Eastern Division lead to three and a half games, made it five wins in a row over Rochester. Harry Gallatin of New York was the game's high scorer with 21 points and Jack McMahon led the Royals with 17.

Al Ferrari and Rickey Ayala, Michigan State varsity basketball players, were high school teammates at Boys High, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Trinity Upsets First Dutch In Junior Loop

Action resumed in the Junior Protestant Church League Saturday, with Trinity Lutheran pulling an upset over the favored First Dutch, 38-37, and Redeemer Lutheran tripping the Immanuel 52-59 for their first win.

Trinity trailed 14-18 at the half but came back strongly in the third quarter to take a 27-25 lead. Red Nagele with 21 and Don Kruger with nine were high for the winners. Dirk Oudemool with nine and Bob Barick with 10 were high for First Dutch.

Kendricks and Kelly scored 18 and 16 points respectively for Redeemer Lutheran. Bob Pratt of Immanuel racked up 24 points.

The scores: Trinity Lutheran (38)—Don Kruger f 9, Dietz f 5, Kuhne c 6, Scharp g, Longendyke g, Nagele g 21.

First Dutch (37)—Dirk Oudemool f 9, Bell f 5, Barick c 10, Peck g 8, Comstock g 5.

Redeemer Lutheran (52)—J. Kelly f 16, J. Proper f 4, Tiekens f, Hendricks c 18, Acken g 12, Dumond g 2.

Had Kick Coming

Morgantown, W. Va. (AP)—Jack Stone, halfback on the West Virginia football team, never had attempted a field goal until kicking one that beat Pittsburgh in 1952. He repeated the feat against the same team in 1953 to sew up another victory.

Bob Boyd played 29 games at first base for the White Sox in 1953 without committing an error.

Wampler Leads By Five Strokes

Los Angeles, Jan. 11 (AP)—Former intercollegiate champion Fred Wampler, a dark horse pacing the $20,000 Los Angeles Open Golf tournament dominated by other little known pros, led the way into the final round today with a comfortable five-stroke lead at 206.

Wampler, from Indianapolis, won the National Collegiate Athletic Association title in 1950 at Purdue, where he graduated in business administration, majoring in accounting. But the 30-year-old former B-24 flight engineer immediately turned to pro golf and yesterday gave an excellent accounting of himself with a five-under-par 66.

Observers felt that if the belting boilermaker could tour the 7,000 yard Fox Hills Country Club in an even par 71 for the final 18 he would be a shoe-in for the $4,000 top prize. Behind him at 211 came Jimmy Clark, Laguna Beach, Calif.; Fred Hawkins, El Paso, Tex.; and Bill Nary of Tucson, Ariz. Nary led through the first and second rounds but slipped to a 74 yesterday. Hawkins had a 73 and Clark a 67.

Alone in Jump

New York, Jan. 11 (AP)—Michael T. Balus was all alone for the first time in a dozen annual tries when he jumped into the East river yesterday to retrieve a gold cross as part of a religious ritual. "It was comparatively warm," he spluttered as he climbed back aboard a tug into the 35-degree air. Two hundred muffled spectators said nothing. Balus, a 26-year-old steel mill mechanic who lives in Hicksville, L. I., said he had made similar dives once each in Chicago, Philadelphia and Boston, and eight times in Greece. On three of those occasions he triumphed over competitors in retrieving the cross.

When the New York Athletic Club was first organized in 1868 it had 14 members. At the end of 1953 it had 8,191.

Railroads and New York city's subways also were reported operating near normal. Street traffic was slowed greatly.

The U. S. Weather Bureau's bulletin said: "Extreme caution should be exercised and all unnecessary travel curtailed on the highways as snow will continue through today and tonight and possibly into Tuesday morning."

"The present rate of fall, total accumulation will be in excess of 15 inches. Near-blizzard conditions will cause snow to drift to considerable depths in open areas. Temperatures today near 20 will fall to near 10 above in the city and zero to 10 above in outlying suburbs."

Largest Since '49
If the weather bureau's prediction holds good, the snowfall will be the largest in the city since early 1949 when about 15 inches fell. The record for the city was the crippling 25.8-inch fall of Dec. 26 and 27, 1947.

Complete mobilization of city department of sanitation forces began early today. Eight thousand workers with 1,800 plows were on the job before dawn, and other thousands of city workers were due to pitch in later.

Sanitation Commissioner Andrew W. Mulrain urged motorists not to take their cars out, so as not to interfere with snow removal operations. The New York Automobile club reported driving conditions were hazardous in the general area.

Bureau's Opinion
A weather bureau spokesman attributed the snow fall to warm, moist air "over-running" a cold air mass hovering over the city and vicinity. The warmer air was moving up from the south and southwest.

The lowest temperature reading of the season was 14 at 3 a. m. this was 4 degree under the mark of Dec. 18.

Road conditions in the entire metropolitan area were described by the automobile club as treacherous and getting progressively worse. Roadways on all bridges were reported extremely slippery.

Westchester county, and Connecticut highways had little traffic, as drifting snow covered roadways previously cleared. Speed limits were lowered on major highways. The limit on the Merritt Parkway in Connecticut was cut to 25 miles an hour. Speed on the New Jersey Turnpike was
